

WOMEN HEALTHIER THAN MEN REPORTS "U. W." INFIRMARY

Over 1673 Students Cared for During Year Over a Thousand Were Men Students

MADISON, Wis.—Of the entire student body registered at the university for the year 1921-22, 1,673 students spent part of their time at the university infirmary. Six hundred thirty-eight were women, and 1,035 were men.

Students seeking medical advice made 35,325 visits to the physicians at the medical clinic during the last academic year and summer session, and the doctors made 2,050 house visits to the students.

Office visits for preliminary examinations are included in the total number of office visits. A total of 37,406 consultations are recorded by the physicians for the entire year including required medical examinations.

A total of 5,387 different students received medical service from the university doctors during the regular year. This number represents nearly 70 per cent of the entire student body of 7,750.

The 3,001 men who visited the physicians represent over 60 per cent of the men students enrolled. The 2,226 women who sought medical service represent about 86 per cent of the women students.

Of the 4,724 students registered in the 1922 summer session—including 2,156 men and 2,568 women—a total of 304 or 6.4 percent sought medical advice and attention.

In the fall of 1921 and in February 1922 a total of 2,970 students, including short course men and university high school students were given medical examinations by the university clinic. Of this number 1,619 were men and 1,050 were women.

All medical service has been free. There has been no financial obligations on the part of the students toward the doctors. Every student enjoys the privilege of advice and attention from the staff. Each student, however, is required to pay a $3 fee upon registration each semester for infirmary service.

For Measuring Cloth
Bolts of cloth from some German mills have tape lines rolled up in them so that it is always possible to see just exactly the amount of cloth remaining in a piece that has been cut.

For Evening
Spangled stockings for evening wear are displayed in the fashionable shops. On gold colored hose one sees green or red spangles, and on white, silver is frequently used.

Reforestation
The reforestation movement has accomplished something worth while. Since 1908, 21,944,000 trees have been distributed to persons in different parts of the country and planted.

Oats Never Cooked so quickly

Instant Quaker Oats
Cook in 3 to 5 minutes

Your grocer now has Instant Quaker Oats, as well as the style you know.

Instant Quaker, perfected by our experts, is the quickest cooking oats in the world. It cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes.

Both styles have that exquisite flavor which has won the world to Quaker. Both are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, gump, flavory oats. In both we get but ten pounds from a bushel.

But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And the small thin flakes cook quickly.

If you want the Instant Quaker, look for "Instant" on the label. You will get the quickest cooking oat flakes ever known.

HULA-HULA DANCE DECLARED LIBEL ON HAWAIIAN CUSTOMS

HONOLULU, T. H.—Two ancient and forgotten laws on the statute books of Hawaii which still are effective could be invoked to suppress the hula-hula dance of Hawaii, which is usually performed by a grass-skirted woman, according to an announcement by Territorial Attorney General John A. Mathewman, in connection with recent efforts to abolish the hula exhibitions, now given mainly for the entertainment of tourists.

The announcement followed the adoption of a resolution by the Hawaiian Civic club, composed of leading Hawaiians, denouncing the Hula, as a "libel upon the Hawaiian race and its customs."

Judge Mathewman said the two laws which might be enforced against exhibitions had been on the statutes of the territory for many years—one since 1858 and the second since 1898.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 percent air and 6 percent common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' free trial, or even to give one free to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

this having been adopted when Hawaii was a republic.

In connection with the campaign against the hula V. MacCoughey, territorial superintendent of schools, while addressing the Honolulu Ad club, declared that the "so-called high society dancing which is seen at leading social events is more immoral than the hula."

The Election

WHAT most people want to know is what the election means. Democrats regard it as a democratic victory. However, this view will hardly bear analysis.

The democratic gains are in a large sense due to the same things which resulted in the republican landslide of 1920. Then the country repudiated the democratic administration, and voted republican mainly because to vote republican was the only way to defeat the democrats. It appears that this year the country, in so far as the congressional balloting served as an expression, repudiated the republican administration, and voted democratic largely because to vote democratic was the only way to repudiate the republicans.

The fact seems to be that issues between the two old parties had little to do with the outcome. The democrats raised no vital issues. Such issues as moved masses of voters were endorsed by neither party, and entered the campaign only as the individual views of certain candidates and campaigners.

A significant result is the probability that Senator La Follette and Senators-elect Brookhart and Shipstead will have the balance of power in the senate. They form the most advanced progressive—some say radical—group that ever attained a place of high power in that conservative body.

President Harding no doubt hopes that during the special session which he will call, some of his unpassed measures will be enacted. Doubtless of these the ship subsidy bill will be pressed hardest. He may be able to put it over, although this is doubtful. The thing that works in his favor is that defeated congressmen, with now nothing political to lose, may vote for a measure for which they would not have dared to vote had they still political lives to make safe.

International matters will be more than ever up in the air. We have no foreign policy, unless mere negation can be called policy. In seeking to exert some international influence without confessing the error of our failure to join the League of Nations, our state department has followed an evasive and equivocal course, albeit this course has been in the direction of assuming piecemeal that responsibility which we can not evade and which we should have accepted as a whole. Whether democrats will interpret the election as a popular mandate for the League, remains to be seen.

In international matters, the La Follette trio's power will support the president's position where it means "hands off," but will go much further, as the Wisconsin senator is an extreme isolationist. In domestic affairs the trio which may become something of a triumvirate, is likely to block the efforts of both parties and to use its power in an effort to demand radical measures affecting the more important issues. However, its significance rests rather with its ability to block things of which it disapproves than with any power to secure legislation which it favors, and in view of Senator La Follette's invariable practice of accepting no compromises and demanding the full loaf, it seems unlikely that the efforts of the trio will result in any half-a-loaf legislation such as is acceptable to progressives who believe in always taking the best bargain available and coming back to seek a still better bargain next time.

Nor is it in the senate alone that Senator La Follette's power will be felt. With the republican majority in the house greatly reduced, it indeed not obliterated, the Badger solon's balance of power there will be as definite as in the upper house. Back of him will be his state delegation, of whom Fear alone is distinguished for independent thinking, and the latter usually is in agreement with the senator. Berger will work with them as the less of two evils. Minnesota, the Dakotas and Iowa contribute congressmen inclined to stand with the Wisconsin leader, and there seems no doubt that party lines will be drawn so closely, one way or the other, as to give the La Follette group the balance of power.

On the country as a whole the immediate effect gives little promise of prosperity. Slight headway can be expected where the executive branch lacks a majority in congress. Business does not know what to expect. There is created a tendency to skepticism and uncertainty in investment and industry. Often a bad administration fully entrenched does less damage than does a congressional deadlock.

In its broader aspects the election, if it means anything, seems to indicate a strong swing toward liberalism. Nothing like it has been seen since 1912. The old parties, whose conservative leaders prefer to hold their organizations in hand rather than win any given election by liberal concessions can hardly be expected to read the handwriting on the wall. No doubt advocates of a new national party will find in the popular reaction at the polls substantial encouragement to proceed with their plans. They may abandon the idea of group interpenetration of the old parties, which brought such significant figures Tuesday, and put a complete national ticket in the field in 1924.

Prices

PRICES are not apt to drop to what they were before the war, for ten years at least, reports Prof. Charles J. Bullock. He is chairman of Harvard University's committee on economic research, one of the leaders among business forecasters. After the War of 1812 and the Civil War, it took prices about thirty years to drop to normal. The low point of prices occurs, roughly, every fifty years. The last low point was 1896. By precedent, prices of 1896 may repeat in 1946. New and unprecedented conditions, however, may break the rule.

Sense

GLENN FRANK, editor of Century magazine, says he notices three distinct classes of people—pessimists, optimists and rationalists. The future hinges on the rationalists, Frank thinks. There is such a thing as too much optimism, the same as too much pessimism. The happy medium is rationalism, or common sense. In the long run it prevails—but usually after the mischief is done and "it's too late."

Water

IT'S against the law to drink water in Lithuania, reports Dr. J. C. L. Seymour of South Boston, just returned from abroad. The bars are running wide open and prices almost shamefully low. Water is banned because of germ contamination following the war. This, however, will not kill a wet's joy over the fact that somewhere over the horizon it's water, not fire-water, that's the target of prohibition.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

George Ritter, supervisor of the Thirteenth ward, will assume the duties of undersheriff when John Webber, sheriff-elect, takes office January 1. The executive committee of the democratic county committee and of the legislature notified the appointment when Mr. Webber submitted Ritter's name at its meeting yesterday afternoon.

Two freak bets made on the recent election were paid yesterday and a large crowd was on hand to see them carried out. J. P. Moore, who bet wrong on the race for the assembly with George Webber, had to convey Webber in a gaudily decorated wheelbarrow down Mill street while crowds lined both sides of the street. Henry Knoches, who lost a bet on the sheriff's election to Fred Roth, had to pull Roth from the Dew Drop Inn on Rose street to the south side and back again in a carriage. Roth bet on Webber for sheriff.

J. A. Launke, 1423 Wood street, has gone to Rushford, Minn., where he has purchased a farm and where he intends to move the latter part of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Skoglund, 1810 Jackson street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday. All the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present. Mr. and Mrs. Skoglund came to La Crosse from Sweden in 1870 and have lived here ever since.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The old Evans and Peterson building in North La Crosse is being torn down and a handsome new building will be put up in its place.

Mr. and Mrs. Sopherson of Halfway Creek have taken up their residence on Kane street on the north side.

Richard Romp of this city has been made right tackle on the University of Wisconsin football team to take the place of Hammerston.

Dr. Boehman has brought his family here from Winona. They will reside on the corner of Ninth and State streets.

George Claus has gone to St. Paul where he will enter the employ of a saddlery house. He has been employed here with the Medary Saddlery company.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

John Cowley of the Cameron House Lunch Counter, has been in the big woods north of Needah and shot two deer, one a fine buck.

The Milwaukee road has erected a house, in anticipation of winter, for the flagman at the Mill street crossing.

John Hart, a stock dealer of Austin, Minn., has come to La Crosse to engage in stock buying here.

L. Klecker left this morning on his annual trip to East Fork to spend a week or so hunting deer.

The indoor baseball club will play the first game of the season at its new quarters in the McMillan opera house next Tuesday evening. The four clubs have selected names as follows: Kokos, Mars, Columbias and Comets.

Shining By Contrast

By CORONA REMINGTON

"Hey there, Jim! Great sport to see you in the old town again."

"Great to be here," declared Jim, champing as he gripped Agnes Hubbard's hand.

"Brother wanted to meet you, but he had an important real estate deal on and he knew you'd excuse him. Sent his regards and all that and said he'd see you at lunch. I'm to take you home in the car. It's right around here, does the old town look natural? Just think, four long years since you graduated up on the hill there."

"Not a thing changed, not even you—same old Aggie," he laughed.

"You're father," the girl announced, saying herself at the wheel. "Yes, lawyers don't get much time for physical exercise. I'm afraid I'm going to be—perky by the time I'm thirty," ruefully.

"I'll get some of that off. You ought to see the schedule I have planned for today and tomorrow."

"Athletic as ever, I suppose," grinned Jim.

"Oh, yes; more so if anything. It's the old life."

By this time they had reached the entrance to the Hubbard place.

"My, it looks wonderful and cool up there among the trees. I always liked that big old white house," said Jim. "And such an inviting porch, with the awnings and linen-covered chairs."

"I always liked it too, but I'm not home much. Dad says I have more outside interests than any girl he ever knew."

Agnes chuckled through the luncheon and they hurried off afterward to the golf club. On their way out to the car Jim glanced wistfully at the cool porch and the inviting smoke stand beside a comfy chair.

"Gee it's hot!" he declared half an hour later, as he stood on the golf links.

"Not much," scoffed the girl. "You ought to try it here in August. It is hot then."

They played until 5 o'clock, then Agnes hailed him off for a little swim before dinner. She was a champion swimmer and raced him half way across the lake and back. By this time Jim was so tired he wondered whether he would be able to keep from sinking, but Agnes seemed as fresh as the morning sun.

"Let's dive a little," she suggested.

"Then we'll have to get home. Dinner's at 6:30 and some of the old crowd's coming over for a dance this evening."

"What?" said Jim almost forgetting to paddle.

"Yes, coming over for a dance to-night. Won't that be fun?"

"Is—sure?"

Somehow, he lived through it and managed to keep on the floor. Every muscle in his body was searing in reaction and at times he thought seriously of running away. At 1 o'clock the dance ended and Jim was permitted to go to his room.

SWEET MUSIC

Did you ever hear about the clerk who only rang up half the cash he took in—

And every time the bell rang the register sang: "This place will soon be thine."

Well, we don't have clerks like that, but our register sings a merry tune just the same.

It says to each customer: "Save your receipt; they're good for 5% rebate in cash."

And that's all we've got to say today.

OUT OUR WAY

THE FAKERS.

"Good night," called Agnes up the stairs, "and, Jim, be ready at 6. We're going for a drive and have picnic breakfast afterward. Nothing like a bike to start the day right."

But Jim did not say for the bike. Instead he changed into his street clothes, threw his belongings into his grip and seated himself to wait for everything to quiet down. While waiting he scribbled a note and pinned it to his pillow which read:

"Dear Aggie,"

"I can't tell you why—lawyers all have secrets. You know—just I must catch the 1:30 train, goodbye! I and many thanks to you and Bill for the most active twelve hours I ever spent. Will write, Jim."

Like a thief in the night he slipped out of the big white house and down through the trees. It was two miles to the depot, but with Jim's amount of determination anything was possible. With gritted teeth he started trudging along the sandy road, carrying his heavy grip first in one hand, then the other. Kind Providence sent a milk truck along on its way to the city with its load of baby breakfasts, and at the wheel sat a man with a heart, which was more of the work of kind Providence. The truck slowed down and the man asked Jim to jump in and ride. He reached the depot just in time to catch the train, and we could go out under that big tree and you could stretch out and smoke while I sewed and we could talk about old times. Then afterward I could read to you and you could listen or just drowse awhile. You look so dreadfully tired, Jim; I noticed it first thing."

"Land, what domestic bliss!" said Jim fervently. "You're the most feminine girl I've seen in years. You're comfortable to have around. I—I—wish I could have you always," he said, floundering as he unconsciously gripped her hand.

"How do you know you couldn't?" she asked, mischievously. "Have you ever tried?"

"Do you mean that?" he asked tensely.

"You might try and see," she suggested.

And he did.

His System

He was the most down-and-out looking specimen of a tramp that had ever applied at the back door of the little country farmhouse.

The farmer's wife viewed him with disgust.

"My goodness," she cried, "I don't believe you have washed yourself for a year."

"Just about that," agreed the tramp, not in the least abashed. "You see, I only washes afore I cats."—Farm Life.

Dinner and then Coffee at the Congress

Food of the best, skillfully prepared into tempting, delicious dishes served amidst the most pleasing surroundings—that's the Congress. Everyone knows of the Congress in Chicago. Everyone knows that to dine there is to dine well, but that no dinner is quite complete without a cup of that delicious excellent coffee.

Thousands of guests have gone to their homes and raved about that coffee—the coffee that made a perfect finish to a perfect dinner.

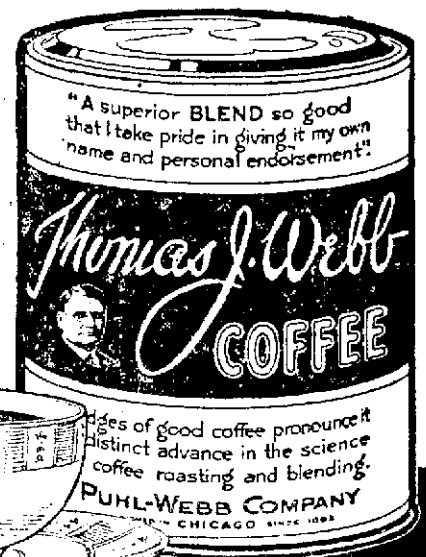

And it was Thomas J. Webb Coffee, of course.

You may have this same good coffee in your home—just get it from your grocer. You pay no more for it than for ordinary coffee. In fact, it is an economical coffee, for you get more cups to the pound. Try it!

THE COFFEE OF UNUSUAL GOODNESS

NEW SOURCE OF CAPITAL FOUND BY UTILITY FIRMS

Combinations of Companies Formed to Sell Securities Direct to Customers

NEW YORK.—The financing of public utilities by the users of the commodity supplied, an experiment born of war-time exigencies, has grown so fast in the post war period that today "customer ownership" of telephone, electric, gas, water and power plants has created a class of investors in the United States only equaled in numbers by the owners of Liberty bonds. A source of new investment capital especially for the development of public utilities, untouched by financing campaigns in use before the war, has been tapped, and combinations of companies serving the public with daily utilities are being organized to sell their securities direct to customers. As the result of this "customer ownership" movement, more than 50,000 persons in the state of Illinois alone are now owners of securities of their local utilities, and new capital is being sought by this method in nearly every state in the union.

Foremost in the movement are the Bell Telephone Securities company, handling the securities of the subsidiary telephone companies of the American Telephone and Telegraph company; the Henry L. Doherty & Company combination of electric, gas and power companies; the American Water Works and Electric company, with water works and street railway companies throughout the country; and the Utility Securities company, recently organized by a large group of middle western utilities to dispose of their securities direct to customers.

Although the method of financing was employed to some extent before the war by public utilities, locally and on a small scale, the results achieved recently have encouraged the companies to organize their efforts on a national basis, and the new "customer ownership" movement bids fair to establish itself as an accepted and important branch of the investment banking machinery of the United States.

The American Telephone company alone has 200,000 security holders today, an increase of more than 50 per cent in the past five years, due in large measure to the use of direct selling methods to customers. Other large combinations of public utilities have increased their numbers of security holders by the same method, and it is asserted that the numbers are daily growing larger.

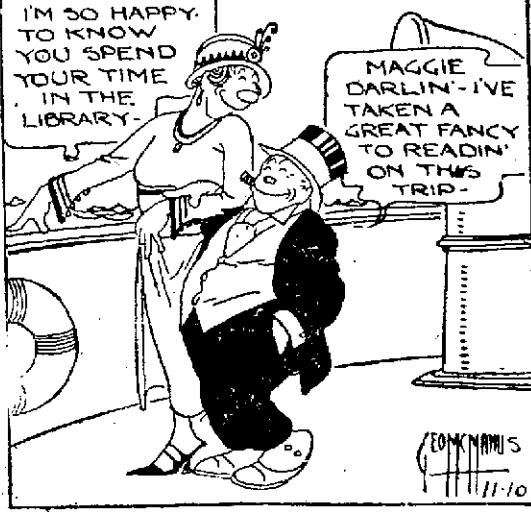

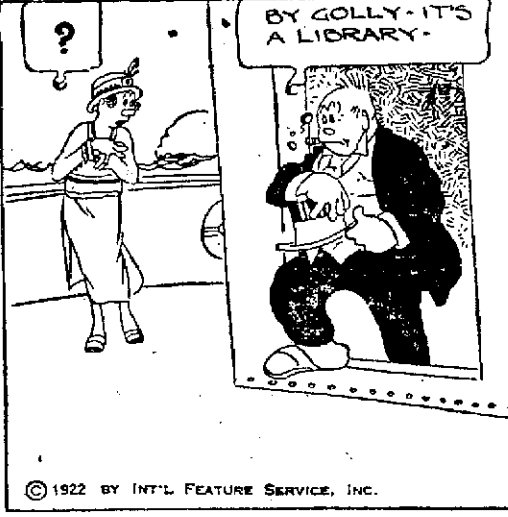

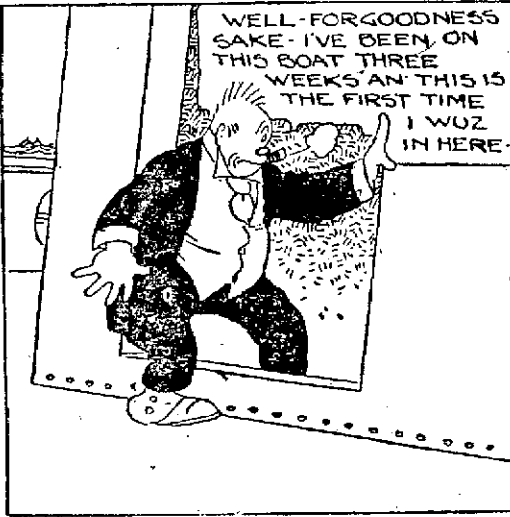

One group of electric light and power companies scattered throughout the United States has secured more than 200,000 customer-owners by this method in the past eight years. Nearly half of the new stockholders were obtained in 1921. More than 6 per cent of the customers served by the 54 companies are now stockholders.

Money available for investment purposes in the usual quarters would have cost the companies more than they could afford to pay, and many of the companies turned to their customers and employees for aid in new financing. The results during the war period were encouraging, and more and more securities were placed in the hands of customers, most of whom never before had owned a security of any kind.

The cost of distributing new securities by this method has been greater in some instances than by the old war methods, but satisfaction has been expressed with the results attained. Most of the issues, whose total value is many millions of dollars, are preferred stock bearing a good rate of interest, and many of them are sold on the partial payment basis. The directors of these various sales organizations are unanimous in warning the public to exercise caution by buying securities of this character, and to become familiar with the financial background and possibilities of a public utility before investing in its securities.

BRINGING UP FATHER

NORMAL GRAIN CROP TO BE HARVESTED IN UKRAINE FOR 1923

Increase in Production Expected to Put Little Russia Back on its Feet

KHARKOV.—Poverty and plenty today run hand in hand along the railroads in the Ukraine, a country once known as the granary of Europe. There are bulging warehouses of grain at some stations, none at all at others, while beggars besiege the passenger trains at every village.

The Ukraine this year as last cannot produce enough food for its own people. The grain crops for 1922 are only about 60 percent normal, and Soviet officials frankly admit that outside aid from relief organizations is necessary until next spring at least, especially among the children in the villages. The peasants, say the officials, are quite able to take care of themselves, excepting in the scattered districts where there was a crop failure due to drought or lack of seeds last season.

There are splendid crops this year in a few districts in the northern part of the Ukraine—equally as good as in normal times. But in the south great stretches of land were effected by hot weather and there is not nearly enough bread stuff to go around. Ukrainian officials say that with the aid of the central Soviet government they are making arrangements to transport 1,000,000 pounds of grain from the north to the south.

From districts where food has been scarce even in summer, people have been flocking to the towns. As a result there are as many beggars in the larger places as last year when there was a crop failure. Some of the beggars are almost plump, while others are as thin as can be. They resemble the pictures of hungry natives of India, and appear barely able to move about. In the poorer districts the village dogs, too have become beggars.

Like the dogs of India—gaunt, mangy creatures that eat ravenously even the canteloupe and apple peelings thrown from the car windows.

In addition to its fair grain crop in the North this season, the Ukraine has produced also about 13,000,000 pounds of beet sugar, three times more than last season, but barely enough for the 30,000,000 inhabitants of the Ukraine Soviet republic itself.

Ukrainian officials say they have plenty of potatoes this year and that from present indications of the fall planting there are prospects of nearly a normal grain crop for 1923. This, they believe, would put the country on its feet again.

They Should Sneeze! Everybody wonders what the world is coming to except those who have hay fever, and they don't care a darn.—Kenosha News.

MONUMENT TO AN APPLE

At Proctorville, in Lawrence county, Ohio, there is a monument erected to an apple. "Rome Beauty." More than a century ago—in 1817, to be exact—the first three of that now famous variety of apple was planted near Proctorville by a boy named Alanson Gillett. It was a mere twig, which his father threw to him, saying "You can have that; I don't want it." The boy planted it carefully and it grew and flourished, bearing in later years fruit that proved to be of an extraordinary quality. Thousands of buds did it yield for grafting, and in the course of time many and extensive orchards came to be made up of its progeny and descendants. Today the "Rome Beauty" is the leading variety grown in Ohio.

SUNSTROKE WARDED OFF

The effects of continued exposure to the sun's rays may be warded off by fabrics that combine the colors of red and green. This fact was made use of by an Englishman who designed some of the uniforms worn by 7,000 British soldiers at the front in Mesopotamia. A weave of red and green was sewn into the soldiers' spine pad, and the same combination was used as a sun curtain hung from the helmet, protecting the back of the neck. Thomson claims that not a single case of sunstroke was reported where the protective material was worn.

DON'T LOSE ANOTHER HAIR!

35-cent "Danderine" will Save Any Man or Woman's Hair—Delightful Tonic—See Dandruff Go!

Hurry! It's your duty! Each day you see a little more hair coming out and you are making no effort to avoid baldness. What a pity. Falling hair means your hair is weak, sick, possibly dandruff is strangling it, or the hair-root pores in the scalp are not firm and tight, thus wasting the hair growing oils.

Danderine almost instantly stops falling hair and cleans every particle of dandruff away, then your hair takes on new life, vigor and strength to grow strong, thick and long. Danderine is delightful—not sticky or greasy. Go to any drug store now and get a bottle. Use it. Have healthy, heavy, beautiful hair and lots of it.

AMERICAN CATTLE MEN OPEN STOCK YARDS IN MEXICO

Stockmen from Over Border
Seek to Replenish Depleted
Mexican Herds

MEXICO CITY.—Approximately 1,000 head of cattle, hogs, sheep and goats are killed for meat in Mexico City daily, and of this number at least 95 percent are imported from either the United States or Argentina. Seventy percent of the imported stock comes from the United States, usually four days by train from the border, and the remainder is brought from South America on steamers that traverse the distance between Buenos Aires and Vera Cruz in 17 days. In view of these figures J. P. Prium and Lee Russell, both well known to cattle men of the southwest, are just completing a stock yard here which at present has a capacity of 1,500 head of stock and can be enlarged as necessity demands.

The stock yards, the first of the kind ever established in Mexico on modern plans, adjoins the city slaughter pens and a working agreement has been made whereby all of the city kill is first received in the local yards and then prepared for market. Cold storage is an unknown thing in Mexico, the natives preferring their meat fresh killed, but according to Mr. Prium, who is in active charge of the yards, a storage plant will be started as soon as the other enterprises are safely on their feet.

The inauguration of the American-owned stock yards is said by its backers to be the forerunner of an earnest attempt by United States stockmen to replenish the Mexican herds that have been depleted by years of revolution. A branch of the Pure Breed Live Stock Association of the United States has been established in Mexico City and is offering its services free of charge to ranchers and farmers in the selection of pure bred animals.

According to best available figures there were some 15,000,000 native cattle in Mexico before the revolution which started ten years ago. There are less than 3,000,000 now, and these are of low grade. Before the revolution conservative estimates say there were 40,000,000 sheep and goats compared to the scant 7,000,000 now roaming the hills. Hog raising has always been neglected and the number of swine in the country is almost negligible. Indigestion of the natives' preference for meats other than pork is the fact that out of the 1,000 animals killed in Mexico City daily, less than 50 are hogs—and these to supply a city of a million inhabitants.

In order to facilitate shipments from the United States and to offset heavy consignments from Argentina, which are growing ever more numerous, American cattle men have secured numerous concessions from the Mexican government whereby animals may be brought into Mexico with a minimum of difficulty. Inspection regulations have been relaxed as much as possible, and the railroads are making serious efforts to move stock trains on express schedule.

Strange as it may seem, Argentine cattle can be shipped to Mexico City cheaper than can animals from south Texas, although the former stock does not compare in quality with that from the United States. Cattle shipments from all foreign countries to Mexico during 1921 were more than 168,000 head, of which 140,000 came from south Texas.

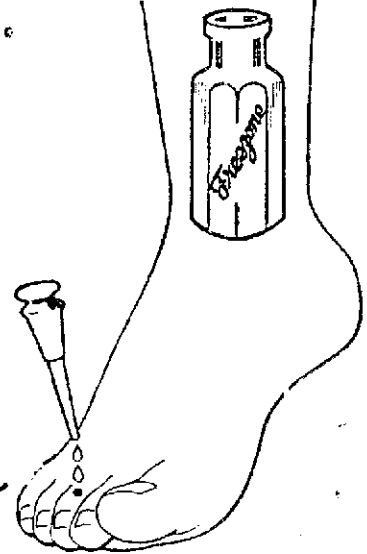

Up To The Doctor

Mrs. Potts' husband had been quite ill, but finally there came a change. When the doctor called and had a look at his patient he announced: "He is a contralto!"

Whereupon Mrs. Potts regarded the physician suspiciously, and her suspicion increased when he made no further comment but prepared to go. "Well, you're a doctor, ain't you?" she demanded. "Ain't you got no medicine for dis beah contralto?" —Exchange.

STYLES IN JEWELRY NOW CHANGE TOO

By MARIAN HALE.

Styles in gowns and hats have always been subject to change without notice, and have forced us to conform to their vacillating ways.

But there was a time when one could depend upon jewels. Grandmother's bracelets and diamond brooches could be worn as inherited.

Now all this is changed. Women have their jewelry changed as frequently as they change their minds. The wrist watch that satisfied you so completely at Christmas time may need to be entirely reset by Easter.

That's the modern pace. We must keep up with our personalities. No one wears the same personality season after season any more.

Artist Helps Changes

Ella Tutch, a young artist of ideas, knows women's fickle tastes as well as the changeable quality of pearls and the intrinsic value of diamonds. She operates a jewelry business on Fifth Avenue, New York, and has shown her business ability by specializing in resetting jewels.

"The pearl is the universally becoming jewel and the ideal stone for a woman, for it really changes of its own accord to conform to woman's moods," she says.

"But without care pearls deteriorate in quality and hence in value, so the diamond is the favorite jewel with women. Diamonds were once regarded purely as a luxury. Now they are investments. Women buy them as they would stocks and bonds."

Diamond "Exchange" Stable

"The war taught women how easily titles and money disappear, and how a fortune in one country may mean nothing in another, and that masterpieces and old porcelains couldn't be put into a small parcel and carried out in a purse."

"Diamonds represent practically the smallest and most valuable space into which large amounts of money may be concentrated and they can always be disposed of quickly.

"So I reset many more diamonds than other stones. Recently I did some resetting for a woman in Texas. She was surprised to have the bracelet come out so well, and she said, 'I'll send you up a box of junk from home and you see what you can make for me.'"

"When the box arrived it contained $12,000 worth of jewelry the woman had discarded because it was no longer the mode. We worked over the whole supply into modern, wearable things."

"Society buds are having anklets made for the coming season—slender bands of diamonds to be worn about the ankle, under the thin silk stockings."

"I make over many wedding rings. The woman, married a decade or so ago when the gold band was still stylish, today gets it pruned down and revamped into one of the slender, jeweled circlets."

"By retaining the inscription and part of the original foundation she has the satisfaction of knowing the sentiment is still there and the article is modern."

"I have a number of patrons who care nothing for conventional jewelry but want unusual settings and odd stones."

"Women are wearing and collecting more jewels than ever before in our history, but they are also using more discrimination and taste."

NOSTALGIA BRINGS RUSSIAN REFUGEES BACK TO HOMELAND

Russians Fleeing from Bolshevism
Returning Home in Constantly Increasing Numbers

SEBESCH, Russia—Russians who fled abroad from Bolshevism in the early days of the revolution and who have since found life in the refugee colonies of Paris, Berlin, London and Prague a constant struggle to keep their heads above the water in ungenial foreign surroundings, are returning home in constantly increasing numbers.

At the same time the soviet regime is banishing other Russians from the country, for one reason or another, and the two streams of humanity meet daily at this Russian-Latvian frontier station. Approximately 150 college professors, publicists and other intellectuals, have lately been sent out of Russia charged with underground secret political activity against the soviet government, or they were unable to reconcile themselves to the development of the Communist system and were, therefore, of no assistance to Russia. Often the returning exile and the new exile has a few moments here to recite experiences or express hopes for the future.

Much as they may rant against the present government, many of these latest exiles, when ordered out of the country, have displayed great emotion and expressed the hope that they would be allowed to stay.

The returning Russians generally seem happier than those going out. Some of them have seen that life abroad has become increasingly difficult for Russians recently, and they much prefer again to cope with the hardships at home than to continue the struggle in foreign lands where governments are not sympathetic.

Among the most recent of the returning Russians were several who had occupied important diplomatic posts abroad during the Czaristic and Kerevsky regime. The Russians now being exiled abroad cannot return home for three years, according to the provisions of the new banishment decree.

Homesickness for their native steppes is the reason advanced for the efforts of some thirty thousand Don Cossacks, now refugees in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere, who are seeking permission to return to Russia. They have sent General Guikkyboff, who was a member of the government of the Don Cossack republic which fought the soviet power, to Moscow to negotiate conditions for their return. They fled from Russia during the civil war.

4 Men in 7
Bald at 40
yet 95% needlessly!

Science discovers falling hair due to simple infection (Sebum). Now quickly overcomes it.

Pay Nothing Unless we grow hair. The Van Ess treatment is absolutely guaranteed. You are the sole judge. The warrant is signed by your own druggist. You assume no risk making this test.

Written Guarantee to Grow Hair
This New Way

This is to offer you, under absolute money-back guarantee, the new Van Ess treatment, which, under clinical tests, grew hair on 91 heads in 108 days. It embodies new principles. Principles heretofore unknown to science. Now high authorities say baldness soon will be a rarity. For hair roots seldom die. And this method revives them. Test it yourself at our risk.

Hair Roots Rarely Die

Records show 4 men in 7 are bald, or partially bald, at 40. Modern science proves this to be unnecessary. Proves only 5 men in 100 need ever be bald. Baldness is not a disease. Note this fact and mark it. It is merely a symptom of infection of an infectious scalp oil, known as Sebum. Remove this infected Sebum and hair will grow. Under the bald scalp the hair roots live. This is true in 95% of all cases of falling hair or baldness. This new method reaches the roots. It makes hair grow. But the public has often been deceived. So we guarantee it. You take no chance of loss.

Remove Sebum

For years science experimented to combat infected Sebum. Finally a 95% effective specific was found.

It is applied a new way—a scientific way. (Note picture of bottle.) It penetrates to the follicles of the hair. It combats the Sebum and removes it. Results are marked. They are quick. In three weeks it stops falling hair. It grows new hair with continued use.

We urge you to try this new way. Go today to any druggist. Ask for Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. With it you will get our guarantee, signed by the druggist from whom you buy it. Hence, it is folly not to try it.

DANCE ODDITIES FEATURE BILL AT RIVOLI THEATER

Those who attend the Rivoli theater during the last half of the week have a delightful vaudeville treat in store for them in the final act on the bill, entitled "Dance Oddities." The title, though by no means misleading, does not by any means include the entire number. Beside the dancing of Miss Ollene Terry and George Maniloff, Sam Lazzerov entertains with beautiful violin solos, and Miss Panetta Jackson charms the audience with her offerings on the piano.

The two dancers, Miss Terry and Mr. Maniloff, are thorough artists, and they offer a series of dances which are excellent in point of technique. Their costumes are beautiful and appropriate, and the appearance they present is alone enough to make friends.

The first act on the bill which opened Thursday is a spectacular torch balancing act by Paul and Lulu Arley. This number provides a series of thrillers for the audience, and is classed as one of the best of its sort on the road.

No music seems too heavy or too light for La Verne and his band. He has a wide range of selections in the list he plays during his number, and the prolonged applause is enough to testify as to his worth.

George Wilson and Beer, in a comedy talking and piano playing act, called "As You Like It," nearly succeeded in stopping the show Thursday night. Wilson has a line of patter that is mostly new and original, and the few old ones he springs are good enough to be heard again. His partner, working from the audience, provides an excellent foil for his humor. A really excellent piano solo of more or less classical type comes as a welcome surprise in this act.

DEFEATED PRIMARY CANDIDATE WINS HURLEY ELECTION

HURLEY, Wis.—Returns show that Joseph Volant, Italian, and former saloonkeeper here, is victor over Robert Bismarck for sheriff, by a majority of about 200. Volant was defeated at the primary by Bismarck, and ran as an independent republican.

FOUNDER OF D. A. R. DIES THURSDAY AT AGE OF NINETY-ONE

PLYMOUTH, Mass.—Mrs. Mary Smith Lockwood, founder of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died Thursday at the Jordan hospital where she had been a patient since September. She was 91 years old.

CAR SHORTAGE HAMPER BADGER POTATO BUYERS

STEVENS POINT, Wis.—Amherst potato buyers are seriously affected by a car shortage on the Soo Line and are having a hard time getting potatoes which they are unable to get rid of. The situation is critical so far as Amherst is concerned; warehouses are filled to capacity and farmers have potatoes stored in all available space. There is a demand but no shipping facilities. Buyers in Amherst report that only a semblance of their usual shipments have been made so far this year, because of the car shortage.

BARRON COUNTY GIRL MISSING FROM HOME

BARRON, Wis.—After visiting a note and leaving it in her bedroom, Miss Doris Greco, 14-year-old Barron county girl, disappeared from the home of her father, J. R. Greco, and despite a search no trace of her has been found. The girl had been a student in the Barron public schools and disappeared late Sunday night, or early Monday morning. The girl's parents are distressed because of her disappearance. Miss Greco is large for her age, weighs 125 pounds, wears glasses and has light hair and blue eyes.

WOODSMAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

STEVENS POINT, Wis.—Hubbard Shoppe, Stevens Point, 56, a woodsman in the employ of the John Week Lumber company here, was instantly killed when the touring car he was driving left a concrete road north of here and turned end over end into the ditch. Shoppe's neck was broken. His companion in the car, Fred Nitz of Daney, 20, a fellow woodsman, escaped with slight hurts.

FRAZIER ELECTION CONCEDED RECOUNT IN MASSACHUSETTS RETURNS FROM OTHER STATES

OHIO
COLUMBUS, O.—By the Associated Press.—The complete unofficial vote for governor was: Carnu A. Thompson, republican, 809,734; A. Vic Donahay, democrat, 816,964. The complete unofficial vote for senator was: Simon D. Fess, republican, 789,368; Senator Atlee B. Pomeroy, democrat, 737,350.

Returns from all but 313 out of the 5,167 precincts in Ohio showed a majority of 161,696 against the proposed constitutional amendment to legalize light wines and beers. The vote stood 346,584 to 684,888.

Judge Florence Allen increased her lead over Benson W. Hough for the supreme court judgeship to more than 27,000.

INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Democratic successes in the Indiana election were broadcast Thursday to include two state offices held by republicans. The reports of the election of Robert Bracken, democrat, as state auditor, and Z. T. Duncan, democrat, as clerk of the supreme court, also showed that the lower house of the next general assembly probably would be divided evenly.

Complete unofficial returns in the contest for United States senator show that former Governor Samuel M. Ralston, democrat, ran 35,599 votes ahead of former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, republican, the vote being: Ralston, 558,499; Beveridge, 522,600; William Henry, socialist, 11,413.

WASHINGTON

SEATTLE, Wash.—Washington voters have chosen a democrat to fill the seat of Miles Poindexter, republican, in the United States senate, returned the five republican incumbent representatives in congress, repealed by an overwhelming majority the poll tax measure and disapproved by large majorities five other initiative and referendum measures on the ballot. With all but a few precincts tabulated in the senatorial contest, C. C. Dill, democrat, had a lead of more than 4,000 votes over Senator Poindexter. In the fifth congressional district, where the race appeared close, Representative J. Stanley Webster has apparently been re-elected by more than 2,000.

NORTH DAKOTA

FARGO, N. D.—The electorate of North Dakota, which recalled Lynn J. Frazier, nonpartisan governor, one year ago, sent the same man to the United States senate in Tuesday's election, his opponents conceded Thursday night.

Frazier on Friday assumed his long deferred lead in the race for the senatorship with the report of 1,747 precincts and the tabulation of 172,937 votes, the former governor having a lead of three votes, 86,470 to 86,467. The vote of 391 precincts is needed to complete the total. In the race for governor, R. A. Nestos, incumbent, whose re-election has been conceded by nonpartisans, held a 23,000 majority.

DELAWARE

WILMINGTON, Del.—Canvassing boards began Thursday the official count of the vote for United States senator, in which Thomas F. Bayard, democrat, on the face of unofficial figures, has a slight lead over Senator T. Coleman Dupont, republican. The latest unofficial count showed: Short term—Bayard, 36,908; Dupont, 36,796; Bayard's majority, 110. Full term—Bayard, 37,288; Dupont, 36,556; Bayard's majority, 832.

It was said unofficially that about twenty contests of Wilmington districts would be filed. The canvassing board is composed of Chief Justice James Pennell and Judge-at-large Herbert L. Rice.

KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—By the Associated Press.—Jonathan M. Davis, democrat, increased his lead over Y. Morgan, republican, to 18,171, in the Kansas gubernatorial race Thursday when 2,113 out of 2,536 precincts in the state had reported. The vote: Davis, 251,925; Morgan, 238,754.

The election of W. H. Sprout, republican, for congressman from the third district appeared assured today when 302 precincts reported. Sprout, out of 302 precincts, gave: Sprout, 37,600; Charles Stephens, democrat, 37,045.

Republicans carried the other districts except the eighth, where W. A. Ayres, democrat, defeated Richard Bird, republican.

All of the important state offices except governor were won by republicans. Returns from 767 precincts on the soldiers' compensation measure gave: For, 109,032; against, 43,770.

NEW JERSEY

NEWARK, N. J.—Additional returns placed Gov. Edwards' plurality over Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, republican, for United States senator at 59,904. The vote in 2,407 districts out of 2,464 was: Edwards, 445,313; Frelinghuysen, 355,409. The same districts give Judge George S. Silzer, democrat, a plurality of 41,630 over William N. Runyon, republican, for governor. Incomplete returns showed a majority of 11,000 in favor of a $40,000,000 bond issue for highways in the state.

PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Figures from 7,560 of the 8,021 districts in the state give Pinchot for governor 735,069 votes to 539,577 for John A. McSparran, democrat.

Major David A. Reed, republican, elected to the United States senate, led Judge Samuel R. Shull, democrat, by 359,035 votes to 7,269 districts. George Wharton Pepper, republican, elected to fill the unexpired term of Pennrose, had a lead of 331,221 over Fred B. Kerr, democrat.

Unofficial returns indicated that the democrats gained six congressional seats, giving them a delegation of seven, and that they also had increased their representation in the legislature.

OREGON

PORTLAND, Ore.—Latest compilation from 1,563 precincts out of 1,729 gave Walter M. Pierce, democrat, 127,454 for governor, against 95,908 for Governor Ben W. Olcott, republican.

CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Upton Sinclair, socialist nominee for United States senator, had polled 37,476 votes when the returns of 5,089 precincts of 6,681 in the state had been counted.

Mrs. Isabell King, socialist candidate for lieutenant governor, polled 27,822, and Alexander Horr, the party's choice for governor, had 25,711 votes.

H. C. Needham, prohibition candidate for United States senator, had 41,515 votes. Senator Hiram W. Johnson received 437,515 votes and his democratic opponent, William J. Pearson, 168,409.

Both the osteopaths and the chiropractors won their fights to obtain separate examining boards.

MONTANA

HELENA, Mont.—With a little more than two-thirds of the 1,525 precincts heard from, Burton K. Wheeler, democrat, for United States senator, has increased his lead over Carl W. Riddick, republican. Returns from 1,031 precincts gave him 71,628 to 53,915 for Riddick.

In the first congressional district, John M. Evans, democrat, has from 233 precincts a vote of 29,122 to 21,238 for Washington J. McCormick, republican, incumbent.

In the second congressional district 681 precincts gave Scott Leavitt, republican, 35,923 to 31,607 for Preston B. Moss, democrat.

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—West Virginia elected a democratic senator and four democrats and two republicans to the house of representatives, replacing its solid republican delegation in the last congress. Senator Howard Sutherland conceded the victory of his democratic opponent, former Congressman M. M. Noel.

The delegation chosen for the house was: Benjamin L. Rosenbloom, of Wheeling, republican; R. E. L. Allen, of Morgantown, democrat; Stuart F. Good, of Clarksburg, republican; George W. Johnson of Parkersburg, democrat; T. J. Lilly of Union, democrat, and J. Alfred Taylor of Fayetteville, democrat.

COLORADO

DENVER, Col.—Precincts in Colorado already heard from gave: Benjamin Gaffney, republican, for governor, 131,528; William E. Sweet, democrat, 135,728. It is probable the remaining twenty-five precincts will not be heard from before the official count.

In addition to choosing three republican and one democratic congressman Colorado voters decisively defeated a proposal to amend the constitution to prohibit civilisation, authorized $6,000,000 of bonds for state highways, and rejected a proposal for a constitutional convention.

IOWA

DES MOINES, Iowa.—By the Associated Press.—Returns from all but 90 of the 2,318 Iowa precincts show 80,000 more persons voted in the election of a governor than in the senatorial fight. They show that Brockard's majority over Hering will be approximately 160,000.

Kendall's majority over Piles will be approximately 225,000.

UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Utah's primary, which congress will not be handed as a result of Tuesday's election, all incumbents being returned to office.

United States Senator William H. King, democrat, won over Ernest Hamberger, republican, by a small majority, and Elmer D. Olson, republican, incumbent congressman of the first and second districts, won over Milton H. Welling and David Dunbar, democrat.

Unofficial tabulations for senator were: King, 57,001; Hamberger, 56,321.

The republican candidates for justice of the supreme court and state superintendent of public instruction were victorious.

In Salt Lake City and county an independent, Benjamin Harrier, who had the endorsement of Mormon church officials, was elected by a large majority as sheriff.

Candidates of the farmer-labor and socialist parties in Utah were snowed under.

IDAHO

BOISE, Idaho.—Idaho was all republican according to unofficial returns. Burton L. French and Addison T. Smith, incumbent congressmen, are winners, and C. C. Moore, republican, for governor, and an entire republican state ticket apparently has gone over. Newspaper tabulation gives 814 precincts in the state as follows: Moore, 46,321; Alexander, democrat, 35,102; Samuel, progressive, 39,150.

Moore and other republicans have been the target of attacks by United States Senator Borah, who opposed the republican platform in that it did not provide for the direct primary.

MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, Mass.—A state-wide recount of the vote cast last Thursday for United States senator was assured Thursday. Colonel William A. Gaston, the democratic candidate, who was apparently defeated by 8,425 votes by Senator Lodge, has carried his intention of directing recount petitions in every city and town in the hope of upsetting the result. The republican state committee took similar action to assure representation in the recount proceedings and have filed petitions in more places than the democrats.

WYOMING

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—W. R. Ross, democrat, was elected governor of Wyoming. It was shown by returns compiled Thursday. The last hope of the republicans that their candidate, John W. Hay, could overcome the Ross lead was dispelled by the returns from Uintah county.

The election of Charles E. Winter, republican, to congress, was made certain, as was that of the republican state ticket outside of the governorship. The legislature probably will remain republican.

UNIONISTS UPHOLD ORDINANCE PENDING ON ALL CITY WORK

each laborer was employed, the rate of wages paid to each class of labor. Said record shall be a public record and open to inspection at all reasonable office hours by any citizen of the city of La Crosse.

"Section 4. The provision of this ordinance shall apply only to such as is actually and usually performed on the premises on which said building and works are being erected, constructed, remodeled or repaired.

"Section 5. All ordinances or parts of ordinances contravening the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

"Section 6. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication."

Regarding Wages

"A glance at the above proposed ordinance will show the public that section one would make compulsory the payment of wages to laborers on public work of a wage not less than is paid by the city for common labor.

"The second section provides the payment of wages to skilled mechanics not less than the prevailing wage for skilled labor at the several crafts.

"Section 3, provides that when advertising for bids for work to be done for the city of La Crosse that the minimum wage to be paid for each class of work be stated in the specifications.

"Section 4, provides on what work the conditions of this ordinance apply.

"This is advanced and beneficial legislation for the wage earner, and a small but reactionary bunch of contractors have taken steps to oppose the passage of this ordinance.

"As this is an ordinance regulating the minimum wage of city work it will not be amiss to give a short description as to the methods in which wages are determined. Broadly speaking there are three methods used.

Methods Employed

"First, Pay the unorganized as little or as much as circumstances demand or the sweet will of the employer dictates.

"Second, Make agreements with organizations for stated periods of time.

"Third, Legislation such as civil service employees, governmental, and railroad labor have.

"It will be seen that in this case the last method is to be used and the reasons for bringing about this legislation are to secure the stabilization of wages and to assure the best contractors who pay men scale an even chance with the contractor who figures the scale and then brings in a lot of cheaper labor, pocketing his extra profit, and to secure for our work a better class of workmanship.

"The resolution of the master builders states much about high taxes and the dictation of the Trades and Labor Council, claiming that it will make a closed shop out of the city work, bribes and graft, etc.

"Now let us see about the taxes. This summer we had quite a bit of street work done by outside firms and during the summer a strike was called. In the settlement it was found that this firm had bid on a wages basis very much higher than the wage basis proposed.

"But through the manipulation of worthy citizens of this city they paid a much smaller wage than is proposed in this ordinance and for a time got away with it. Surely there was no saving of taxes in this case.

"Let us now examine the dictation of the Trades and Labor Council, charge in this matter. It should be known to our master contractors that only as an individual craft and only as an individual contractor have the wage agreements been made.

"The Trades and Labor Council has no power in the matter. The wages agreed upon by the contractors and the several crafts would govern. Indeed although the building trades crafts of this city have a building trades council this council as a body have no right to mix in the wage affairs of any of the crafts.

To Stabilize Wages

"As before stated one of the objects of this ordinance is to stabilize wages. This affects every working man in this city and also affects every retail merchant, as a stabilized wage means a stabilized trade, which in turn means a contented citizenship.

"The squeezing down of wages by unscrupulous employers having their own interest instead of the welfare of the entire city at heart is always followed by reductions in other lines and in many cases is a repeter, as has been shown many times in the last three years. It will therefore be seen that the stabilization of wages in the work done by the city will have a very beneficial effect on every working man in it.

"It should be the desire of every citizen to have their work done by contractors living in and assisting in the upbuilding of the city. Better work is assured as a resident contractor would not want to see the work put up by him to show defects before its time, while the outside contractor who has only a pecuniary interest in it and probably never expects another contract will make it as poor as he can get by with. The proposed ordinance will give our contractors an even chance with the outsiders who will be forced by the conditions of the ordinance to bid to pay the scale of wages agreed to by the master builders and the men in the several crafts.

"It is stated in the proposed ordinance that a better class of workmanship would be the result, while the master builders claim that the time has gone by when the union label stands for efficiency. It seems that red glasses must have been worn by the writers of that resolution. The proposed ordinance does not, can not,

THOMPSON IS SENT TO STATE SCHOOL FOR STEALING CAR

Lawrence Thompson, implicated with Milton Grady and Wallace Clement, who were sent to the state reformatory by Judge Brindley for auto stealing, has been sent to the Wisconsin industrial school for boys by the county court. Thompson was connected with the theft of A. L. Person's auto, which was parked in front of his home, 119 South Sixth street.

STOCK MARKET CLOSE

Prices continued to slump in the final dealings, the decline being accentuated by the absence of support for leading issues. United States Steel sagged to 106 1/2, four points below Thursday's high and closed there, the heaviest loss from two to five points below Thursday's final figures. The close was heavy, sales $3,000,000 shares.

Used in Milwaukee

"The above ordinance is an exact copy of an ordinance in effect in Milwaukee for over a year, which has passed the scrutiny of the courts and has also been declared legal by the City Attorney. The reports to be made out monthly will not be a hardship to the contractors, as very little time or expense is involved, as the reports would be itemized direct from the time roll.

"Much stress is laid upon the opportunity to bribe and graft. That should not worry our Master Builders as we do not think there is one among them who would stoop so low as to become a 'briber.' To bribe is as bad as to be bribed, and as stated in the resolution, is a curse in the big cities, and is only over-shadowed by the underhanded tactics employed by the big contractors in conjunction with the manufacturers of the material, his used in the construction work, to force out of the field all who are not members of their associations. We wonder if an effort like that is or ever has been practiced in La Crosse.

"The proposed ordinance is such a piece of forward legislation tending to stabilize wages in our city, and the attack against its adoption is so very much in keeping of the policy habitually followed to keep back every forward movement that there will be no mistake made in the adoption of the proposed ordinance by the City Council. (Signed) 'La Crosse Trades and Labor Council' 'La Crosse Building Trades Council'.

planiotaries to attend the Lausanne conference merely during the discussion of the straits has been received here. It reiterates the views expressed by Foreign Minister Tchitcherine in his note of October 26, contending that the exclusion of Russia from the whole conference proves the allies have decided to deprive Turkey of the fruits of her victories. The reply proclaims the soviet government is in effect a sort of protector of Asiatic nations and insists that the Moscow government and the governments of the Ukraine and of Georgia should be given full participation at Lausanne.

Demand Truce Compliance

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—The allied high commissioners Friday afternoon handed a note to the Angora government representative here demanding the repeal of all measures relating to the customs, the public debt and the sanitary and other services which conflict with the capitulations and the stipulations of the Mudros armistice agreement of 1918.

Otherwise, says the note, the commissioners will be compelled to refer to their governments for necessary action.

The allied generals also arranged a meeting with Rafe Pasha, the nationalist governor here, to whom they will submit minimum demands with a view to insuring the safety of the troops and control of the police.

The commissioners also will discuss the situation at Chumuk consequent on the Kemal encroachments on the neutral zone.

Ignat Pasha, the nationalist foreign minister in a conversation with General Harrington, the British commander, on Wednesday, complained of the constant proposals to put off the peace conference which he said created a difficult situation. The high commissioners also presented a note to the nationalist representatives protesting against the "political murder" of the journalist, Ali Kemal Bey, editor of the Anti-Nationalist Sabah, who was condemned to death by the nationalists early this week on the charge of subversion.

Constantinople dispatches on November 7 telling of an allied demand for the release of Ali Kemal within forty-eight hours said it was rumored that he already had been executed at Iskild.

MRS. JOHN BRIGGS OF HOUSTON DIES IN HOSPITAL HERE

HOUSTON, Minn.—Mrs. John Q. Briggs died at the Lutheran hospital in La Crosse Sunday morning after an illness of over six months of cancer of the stomach. She was seventy-two years of age and had made this village her home ever since 1874 when she was married to the late Mr. Briggs at her home in Rockford, Ill. She leaves three sons to mourn her loss. Hollis and Ralph of this place and Carl of Chicago.

Funeral services were held from her home Wednesday at one o'clock, Rev. Mr. McKinney of the Presbyterian church of which she has been for years an active member, officiating, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Metram of Money Creek.

Interment was made in the cemetery at Money Creek, the service at the grave being in charge of the worthy matron, Mrs. G. L. Schenlan, and members of the Order of Eastern Star. The pallbearers were Messrs. N. H. Forsyth, F. C. Schenlan, Boyd Lilly, John Siler, Herb Smith and Harvey Harris.

PAPER MILL OWNERS WIN THEIR FIGHT FOR RAILWAY CONNECTION

COTTERAY, Wis.—Marking the victory in a seven years' fight, work was commenced Wednesday on building the connection between the Soo railroad and the Omaha road at Lonsington, four miles west of here. Both roads have been fighting this matter. During the war the railroad commission suggested that the connection wait until conditions became settled before any action was started.

Paper mill owners at Ladysmith having large tracts of timber in the eastern part of the county have been the leading agitators for the connection as they claimed that the big rates on their logs and pulp wood at Cameron were excessive. This new connection will shorten the haul from here to Ladysmith by about forty miles. The work of grading the road-bed will be pushed with large steam shovels at work. The Soo line will build the connection, but both roads will share the expense.

INDIAN IS CONVICTED OF KILLING FRIEND

HURLEY, Minn.—James Grogan, Neef Lake Indian, charged with the murder of Jim Smith, another Indian, in a drunken brawl in the latter's home, was found guilty by a jury on Thursday in district court in Hurley. The jury deliberated two hours. Grogan was sentenced immediately after the verdict by Judge Martin Hughes to serve a term of no longer than five years in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. Grogan, when asked if he had anything to say, said that because of ill health he would like clemency. The plea of the defendant's attorney was self defense.

Public Debate

AN OPEN QUESTION TO REV. ROWLISON

In reading the account of your recent visit to the office of the Tribune, I found a sentence that needs a little explanation. "To all thoughtful men, to all of scientific temper, to all scientific method, the substitution of a hypothesis has become the working basis." To you permit to say that who repeat the phrase of evolution, who accept the version of the bible as to the creation of man are not giving the thoughtful man any thing to think according to your standards. A long line of men and women, many of them prominent in our school and colleges, will have to be put back on the class who do not think that evolution, Rev. Rowlison.

Respectfully,
REV. H. C. MATHESON.

COURT RULES IT HAS NO POWER TO GOVERN ELECTIONS

Right of Regulation up to Legislature Says Decision in Barber Case

MADISON, Wis.—The Supreme court in its opinion just filed in the case commenced to keep the name of Joseph Barber, Republican, nominee of the 25th senatorial district, off the ballot on the ground that he was ineligible to hold office, passed on the power of the tribunal to govern elections.

Justice Rosenberg, writing the opinion, said that "it being established that the power to adopt reasonable regulations in respect to the exercise of the right of franchise is in the legislature, it would seem that that sufficiently establishes that there is no power of regulation in the courts."

The Supreme court on any other court, he held, had no authority to step within the domain of the legislature and prescribe who shall be permitted to sit within that body.

"When the legislature creates new rights and extends new privileges, those rights and privileges become subjects for judicial action," the justice declared.

"The official ballot is a creation of the legislature unknown to the constitution. The right of a candidate to have his name appear thereon is one created by the legislature. Until the legislature in the exercise of its power to regulate the exercise of the right of franchise has prescribed as a part of the qualification of a person who is seeking a place on the official ballot that he shall be eligible to the office for which he is a candidate, neither the courts nor any administrative officer may limit his right."

PRACTICAL APPRECIATION

Notes and Queries is an ancient and honorable literary publication of England which has never been a big paying proposition, although it has been of immense value to literary people. Lord Northcliffe saved Notes and Queries from extinction shortly after the war, as a tribute to its influence in his personal fortunes, according to an English writer. It is said to have inspired him with the idea of his own Answers, which gave him his start in his newspaper career. Notes and Queries has been published for more than 70 years. It is a small-sized magazine, and Lord Northcliffe is said to have predicted that the future newspaper will have a page no larger.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

Ships other than those belonging to the United States government still are paying no attention to Attorney General Daugherty's decision that vessels are breaking the law if they visit American ports or come inside three miles of the coast with liquor on board, even though they kept it locked up.

Ships Stay Wet

The owners of foreign ships which come to this country and of American ships that the government does not own wanted Judge Hand of New York to say he thought the attorney general was mistaken and to forbid prohibition officers from interfering with their vessels. However, Judge Hand refused, saying he believed the attorney general was right. Then the shipowners asked the federal supreme court, which is the highest court in the United States, to say that Judge Hand was mistaken too.

The supreme court is taking a vacation and probably will not hear the case until late in November.

But in the meantime Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, whose department enforces the law, says the ships may stay wet. Before he does anything he wants to know what the supreme court thinks.

Must Obey Law

The fact is, the law is hard to enforce at sea.

Foreign governments evidently mean to fight it. Some have laws requiring liquor on their vessels.

Already the English government has refused to let the dry American ship President Adams sail from Plymouth without taking a supply of brandy. This never happened before; seemingly the English authorities decided to show they can make trouble too.

If prohibition is made ironclad much shipping certainly will stay away from American ports. Maybe the continental United States won't care, but some of her island possessions do. Porto Rico, for instance, sends her coffee to Europe on Spanish vessels which also carry cargoes of rum. They will give up the coffee rather than the rum, so Porto Rico fears her coffee market's ruin.

To get as much protection from other governments as they can, it is likely many American ships will be transferred to foreign flags.

But ships the United States government owns cannot do this. The shipping board, which manages them, says they will lose most of their passengers if they must be dry, while others stay wet. Having tried it, the board knows.

However, it is certain the supreme court will disregard all this and be guided solely by the law.

America, among other countries, is asked to join in the conference to settle matters in the near east, where Greece was beaten by the Turks.

She will accept only unofficially, but on that basis it is expected she will have a representative present, to make suggestions and to tell what Americans, as onlookers, think ought to be done.

Aside from hoping in a general way that the agreement may insure permanent peace, the United States has two particular interests in the near east.

For one thing, Turkey has natural resources, especially oil, awaiting development by foreign capital. Americans want a fair chance in this field.

Also, as a Christian country, the United States is concerned for the welfare of Christians, such as Armenians and Greeks, who live under Turkey's Mohammedan rule.

These Christian subjects of Turkey unquestionably have suffered terribly. True, it is said on good authority that they treat the Turks as cruelly, whenever they have a chance, as the Turks, given an opportunity, treat them. However, this is no reason for giving the Turks a free hand, now that the advantage is theirs unless they are restrained.

England's Political Jumble

England, where Premier Lloyd George was forced from first place in the government, to be succeeded by Andrew Bonar Law, only a week ago, is preparing already for a national election to decide who really is strongest.

The situation is very jumbled. The big parties, liberals and conservatives, both are split, even worse than the republicans and democrats are split here. Nobody can guess how they will divide when they come to vote; nobody knows just who is leader of either. The labor party is solid and pretty strong, but by no means in a majority. Lloyd George talks of forming a central group, but this talk is rather vague.

It seems likely that no one party will have a majority in the next parliament, so that the premier will have to form an alliance with one of the others besides his own.

This cannot but mean compromise and uncertainty, a most unfortunate thing at a time when the world's affairs call for clean-cut policies on the great powers' part so urgently that a vacillating government is almost worse than a really bad one which knows its own mind.

Fascist Rule in Italy

Italy has changed cabinets, too, in almost a revolutionary way.

Premier Facta and his fellow-ministers had to resign, on demand of the fascists.

Three years ago Benito Mussolini, a Milan newspaper man, became alarmed by the bolshevik movement in Italy. He formed the fascisti to oppose it.

Genuine battles occurred in many towns. A good many lives were lost.

The fascisti succeeded. Evidently today their will in Italy is law. Dissatisfied with Facta's policies, they undertook what is described as "concerted action," broke communications "between north, south and central Italy," and made themselves masters of some of the chief towns.

deposing the authorities and assuming control.

This sounds considerably like revolution, though it did not affect the king, or, at any rate, has not yet, possibly because he submitted, leaving it to the fascisti leader to form a cabinet in the Facta ministry's place.

However, Mussolini virtually is dictator. He says he will destroy any government the fascisti dislike. From all appearances he is able to do so, too.

Before calling on Mussolini, the king had offered the premiership to Giovanni Giolitti and Antonio Solan-dra, both former prime ministers, but they declined the post when, on investigating, they found they were not acceptable to the fascisti organization.

Rizzo.

Executor's Motive

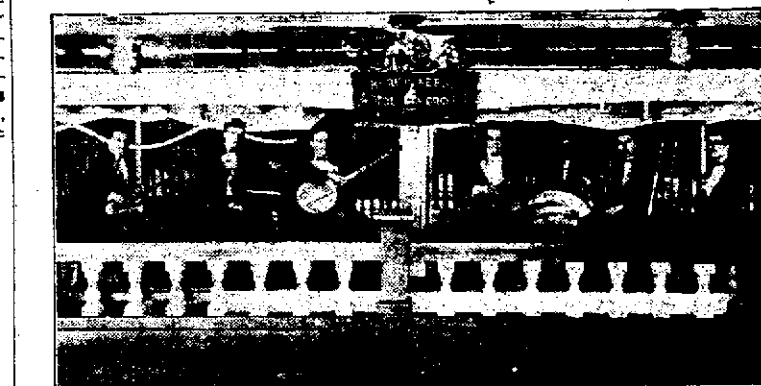

King James executed Sir Walter Raleigh in order to gain the friendship of the Spanish king and the latter's daughter as his wife.

ROUGH RIDER STATUE OF ROOSEVELT TO BE UNVEILED SATURDAY

Ceremonies Mark Armistice Day Program at Portland, Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 10.—"Theodore Roosevelt Rough Rider" is the inscription on a heroic equestrian statue of the former president, to be unveiled here Armistice day with ceremonies in which many thousands of persons are to participate.

The statue, by A. Phimister Proctor, was presented to the city of Portland by Dr. Henry Waldo Cox, a life-long friend of Theodore Roosevelt, and it is to be dedicated to the children of America. Approximately 25,000 school children of the city are to take a prominent part in the exercises. The morning program is to be devoted to the children, part of the ceremonies, with a parade, each child dropping a rose, Portland's emblem at the foot of the statue.

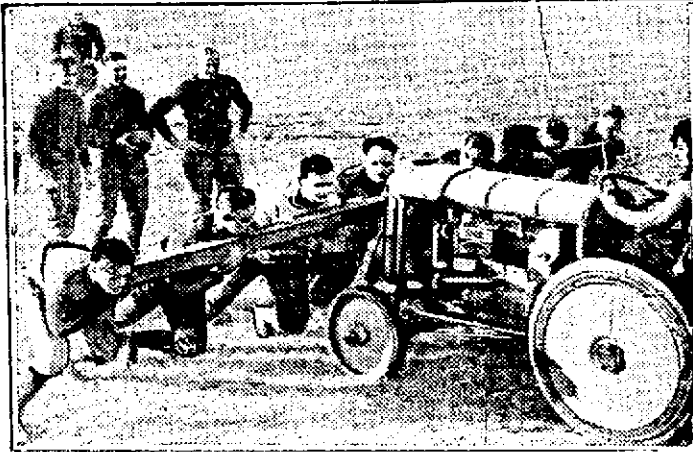

There will be a military parade in the afternoon, with the regular army, the navy, the marines, Oregon National guard, the Guard Army of the Republic, Spanish-American War veterans, American Legion, Boy Scouts and Sons of the American Revolution represented. Counties of Oregon and other states are to be represented by committees.

Dedication ceremonies will be held at the unveiling, and a message from President Warren G. Harding is to be read.

The statue is located in a park square near the heart of the city. The bronze figure stands more than 10 feet in height, placed on a pedestal of granite eight feet high.

The Roosevelt family has taken keen interest in the work of Proctor, the sculptor, and Mrs. Roosevelt provided him with the clothing and accoutrements, including the sidearms which were worn by Colonel Roosevelt in the battle of San Juan hill. The army selected as a model a soldier of the same stature, birth, height and weight as Colonel Roosevelt at the time he was a rough rider. After a long search for a suitable horse one was found at Palo Alto owned by a girl student at Stanford university, and upon this horse, dressed as Roosevelt, the soldier posed daily for many months. Members of the Roosevelt family have pronounced their approval of the work of art.

HEROISM DISCOURAGED

It is a rare thing to hear of deeds of heroism by the Chinese, and the reason is two-fold. In the first place life is held very cheaply there, and, in the second place a person who in any manner saves the life of another in that country automatically assumes all responsibility for the conduct of the rescued person during the remainder of the latter's life. Having jumped aboard to save the life of a drowning person it is somewhat disconcerting to find that you have on your hands a highbinder or a bloodthirsty pirate for whose deportment you are eternally accountable. So the rewards of sacrifice are therefore not calculated to rear a race of heroes. If the rescued should take it into his head to commit some atrocious murder his factor might be boiled in oil to atone for the crime. This custom, not so long ago, was general in its application all over the country.

PUT LID ON LIQUOR PARTIES AT MADISON HOMECOMING GAME

University and Police Department to Co-operate in Suppressing Booze

MADISON, Wis.—Suppression of booze during the Homecoming week end will be brought about this year by the co-operation of the university authorities and the police department of Madison, according to a statement made by Schott H. Goodnight, dean of men.

All organizations have been notified to discourage all liquor parties which may take place next Saturday. Federal and state agents will be here during the Homecoming in order to enforce the prohibition law.

"The fraternities can be relied upon to co-operate with us in this matter," Dean Goodnight said. "I have asked the mayor to help us in suppressing all liquor traffic on Saturday."

"We are going to arrest all drunkards on the streets next Saturday."

Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy asserted last night, upholding Dean Goodnight's stand.

The homecoming committee has asked all the returning alumni to aid the university authorities in discouraging all liquor parties. A poster has been added on all of the 17,000 letters sent alumni reading follows: "We are asking your fullest co-operation in helping dissociate Homecoming and booze. Every drink taken at that time is a blow to the Wisconsin ideal; leave it at home."

THROUGH THE AIR ON A RAIL

The French ministry of public works is doing some extensive experiments with mineral systems, building short lines for the purpose of demonstrating their value in service. If some system is found to be practical, a line will be built between Paris and St. Germain. The most promising system consists of a single elevated rail which is straddled by the train and the latter is driven by means of a propeller such as is made use of on airplanes. It is said that a speed of 150 miles an hour may be attained.

The Worker's Right To A "Living Wage"

Every rational human being in this country stands for a wage that will give American workers an American living. President Harding and Secretary of Labor Davis have recently gone further and declared publicly that American workmen should have not merely a "living" but a "savings" wage. In the face of this comes the ruling of the Railroad Labor Board which declares that "the theory of the living wage" if carried to its legitimate conclusion would wreck every railroad in the United States and if extended to other industries would carry them into communistic ruin. It will be noted that what the Board opposes is not "a living wage" but the theory of "the living wage."

Read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week and learn what the press of the country thinks of the Labor Board's decision and also the various interpretations of a living wage made by Labor journals and the press generally.

CITY OF SAVANNAH HAD GOLF CLUB OVER HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Historical Society Digs Up
Papers Telling of Activities of Century Past

SAVANNAH, Ga.—By the Associated Press.—The members of the golf club are requested to meet at the Exchange this evening at seven o'clock, November 25.

Although modern in its presentation, the foregoing invitation was issued more than 110 years ago by officers of the Savannah Golf Club. It appeared in the form of an advertisement in the Savannah Messenger, a newspaper bearing the date of November 25, 1811, a copy of which has just been found in the files of the Savannah Historical Society. Discoveries followed newspaper and magazine discussions of the introduction of golf into the United States, which placed the date somewhere around 1860.

The location of the links of the "Golf Club" is not known, and just what was the character of the game in the early days here is not recorded. The game then was to be developed to the point where newspaper readers demanded full details of the progress of the game. The Savannah Historical Society is a fact and that it is played by Savannah is a fact. The Savannah Historical Society is a fact and that it is played by Savannah is a fact. The Savannah Historical Society is a fact and that it is played by Savannah is a fact.

That the "Golf Club" was conducted during the time of the modern clubs, however, may be assumed from information contained in one of its members. It was found in the files of the Savannah Historical Society, a copy of which has just been found in the files of the Savannah Historical Society.

LIFE SENTENCE OF KENOSHA MAN IS CUT TO TEN YEARS

MADISON, Wis.—The life sentence imposed in 1919 on Carl O. Carlson, Kenosha, convicted of an accessory in the murder of Patrick Anthony, Director of Kenosha, was commuted to 10 years Friday by Governor J. J. Blaine. This ten-year sentence will run concurrently with a twenty-year sentence imposed October 21, 1922, when Carlson pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary.

The supreme court recently held that the previous plea, guilty and was commuted as an accessory to the crime of first degree murder, while sentenced for first degree murder, and that the court could not change the sentence.

Appeal was taken to the governor and Max H. H. appointed special commissioner to take testimony. The governor reports that this testimony showed that Carlson did not have a hand in the murder, and that he was an accessory to manslaughter and murder.

The sentence was commuted accordingly, Governor Blaine said.

LIGHTNING LIABILITY IN FOREST

There is a popular idea that all forest trees are the most liable to be struck by lightning. Like many other old beliefs, however, it is not borne out by the facts. During the period 1855 and 1902 the staff of the United States Geological office devoted much attention to this matter, and the following results were published: The number of trees struck by lightning in the United States during the period 1855 and 1902 was 1,000. The number of trees struck by lightning in the United States during the period 1855 and 1902 was 1,000.

According to a series of observations made in England the following list was compiled: Oak, 36; poplar, 12; ash, 9; elm, 7; beech, 4; willow, 3; larch, 2; Scotch pine, 1; fir, 1; Hawthorn, 1; mountain ash, 2; Alder, 1; pear, 1.

To make a true deduction from these figures the comparative abundance of the different trees mentioned must be taken into account, and when this has been done it would appear that the most dangerous tree is the oak, then the willow, then the poplar, the oak being in a second fourth. A tree conspicuous for its absence from the foregoing list is the yew.

ALL IN READINESS FOR CHARITY BALL ON FRIDAY NIGHT

EVERYTHING is now in readiness for the one big ball of the season, when society folk of the town dance for "sweet charity's sake"—the annual Charity Ball given by the Woman's Auxiliary of the La Crosse hospital for the benefit of the charity ward.

The decorations are finished and the hall presents a refreshing greenery, a bower of beauty. The doors will open at 7:30 and at 8 o'clock a general reception will be held on the dancing floor in accordance with the custom of former years. This does not mean that evening dress is necessary or for the dancing following the grand march, which is open to all, but for the march itself, which starts at 9 o'clock, all are expected to be in dress costume.

Proceeding the march at 8:30 the program will be given. It is announced that this part of the entertainment will be something unusual and a very delightful number on the evening's program. It is stated that the "animals" are in training and will be prepared to do their stunts. Savory orders issued from the kitchen early Friday morning and gave hints of appetizing food in the process of making. Miss Reed's orchestra, organized for the occasion, has been augmented by several other musicians and the combination is expected to entertain with "heavenly numbers."

MRS. D. E. ANDERSON, 429 South Ninth street, entertained a most popular affair in honor of Mrs. Harvey B. Anderson, of Minneapolis, a recent bride. An enjoyable time was passed with card games and fortune telling. Miss Esther Schulz and Miss Helen Deering were the favorites. A delicious buffet luncheon was served at midnight. The bride was escorted by a pretty and useful affair. In the party were the Misses Hazel Worman, Helen Deering, Lucille Schaller, Irene Goldstein, Esther Schulz, Edith Riese, Kosanda and Amanda and Eva Teicher. Mrs. Helen Berglund and son, Willard.

THE MISSES Geraldine McDonald and Ruth and Dorothy Colton will spend the week-end at Genoa.

AN ENJOYABLE evening was passed Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lee in honor of Mrs. H. Delphand. Places were laid for eight at a luncheon served at 10:30. The guests were Mesdames Delphand, Hoff, M. Hoff and H. Hickisch, and the Misses Elvira Gilbert, Lila Knutson, Myrtle Anderson and Alva Lee.

MRS. GUY ROOT entertained the Round Circle at her home in Onalaska Tuesday evening. An enjoyable time was spent. The dining room was prettily decorated in white and yellow and a large bouquet of chrysanthemums centered the table. At half past ten a delicious lunch was served.

BIG CITY TEACHERS THREATEN TO LEAVE STATE ASSOCIATION

Milwaukeeans Start Fight to Limit Representation of Small Town Teachers

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Withdrawal of Milwaukee teachers from the Wisconsin Teachers' association is expected following a heated contest that occurred in the delegate assembly of the state association at its first session.

Led by D. H. Schuler, Joanna Hanan and Ethel M. Gardner, Milwaukee teachers made a fight against the seating of delegates from locals with fewer than fifty members. They were outnumbered about six to one. After filing a formal protest, they withdrew from further participation in the proceedings, although they kept their seats.

"This fight is another phase of the same old contest led by Margaret Haley, Chicago, and the Milwaukee group of teachers," said a representative of the majority in the delegate assembly. "They made a fight in the N. E. A. convention at Salt Lake City, at Des Moines, and last summer at Boston. In the organization of the class-room teachers department they were outnumbered ten to one and when this became evident, they made a deliberate attempt to prevent election of officers, to enable the old organizers, they having captured the organization, to hold over another year."

"In a nutshell," declared a statement issued by Miss Gardner, president of the Milwaukee Teachers' association, "the representative assembly has declared that teachers in Milwaukee shall be represented on a basis of one delegate to every fifty teachers, while teachers in smaller communities, employed in systems which employ fewer than fifty teachers, may be represented on a basis of one delegate for each 25 teachers. Milwaukee teachers do not propose to be discriminated against in this manner."

Leaders of the majority declare that the controversy is the work of a few leaders among the teachers, who insist upon starting fights in both state and national educational associations over technicalities, and that the only outcome will be a split in the organizations unless teachers break away from their present leadership.

University Faculty Approves Plans for 1923 Junior "Prom"

MADISON, Wis.—Faculty sanction of a junior promenade in the state capital building, the premier university social event, was given by the student life and interests committee Thursday night. Now all that remains for students to do to stage their big dance is to obtain approval of the legislature which meets January 10.

Attendance at the function will be restricted to university students, alumni and invited guests in order to comply with the Madison ordinance against public dances extending after midnight.

At the same time it granted approval of the prom, the faculty committee voted to permit the usual end-of-the-year parties at fraternity and society houses, each organization being permitted to hold one such party a year.

The promenade is to be brought back to the university as soon as it can be properly accommodated there, the faculty decided.

WAR ON LONG SKIRT EDICT FIRST MOVE FOR INDEPENDENCE, DESIGNER SAYS

By MARIAN HALE
American girls have cultivated distinctive personalities, now they should have a distinct style of dress. This is the opinion of Jane Stanford Hodges, who distinguished herself as a designer in the New York Textile High school, and has just won a scholarship at Wallcourt school, to continue her work in costume design.

The current battle between the long and short skirt is, she believes, another evidence that we are freeing ourselves from the sartorial yoke of Paris.

"A few years ago, women would have accepted the long skirt, just because Paris ordered it. Now they don't—they are protesting, and many of them will continue to wear the short skirt regardless of what the majority may do."

Short Skirt U. S. Style
"This is because the short skirt is a distinctly American style, adapted to American life. It would be ridiculous for the American business girl to give up such a comfortable, becoming style, just because women in Paris have decided to wear longer garments."

"Then length of a skirt should not be determined by style but by appropriateness."

"For the home and for evening wear long skirts have always been most lovely. They have a grace and a suggestion of femininity a short skirt can never give."

"When a woman has worn a practical serge dress or suit all day, nothing rests her more than to put on a long, flowing, feminine-looking garment."

Color Important, Too
"Color, too, is important. I am glad to see that women are giving up the steady black diet and including a few colors in their fashion menu."

Miss Hodges does not give all her thoughts to costumes. She also has some very decided ideas about homes and backgrounds.

"I should like to design women's homes as well as their clothes," she went on. "I believe New York women are the most smartly dressed of any in the country, but California women know how to create the most beautiful backgrounds for themselves. Their homes are much more original and beautiful than those in the east."

California women, too, have developed a very distinctive style, and have done wonders with the sports costume.

"I believe if designers were ever to make an effort to reinstate the corseted figure American women would resist it even more than the long skirt."

"Girls who have been trained to be athletic and have never worn stays would not begin now."

"After all, women are progressing. Common sense was never so much the vogue as it is today."

"Women no longer want to be slaves of fashion. They want beautiful styles, and comfortable ones, and when they find them they do not wish to exchange them for mere passing fads."

SUGGESTS CREATION OF A STATE POLICE FORCE IN WISCONSIN

Legislature to be Asked to Establish Badger State Constabulary

MADISON, Wis.—Establishment of a Wisconsin state constabulary will be asked of the 1923 legislature in a bill to be introduced by Senator William L. Smith of Neillsville. Senator Smith says that he intends to propose creation of a state police force to take over the duties of game wardens, and to enforce state highway laws and help in the enforcement of prohibition.

This is the first time suggestion has been made for a state constabulary in Wisconsin. It is the opinion of the Neillsville senator that state police are needed to bring more effective enforcement of prohibition and especially to enforce highway laws outside of the incorporated cities and villages.

"This suggestion will probably cause an explosion in administration circles, but nevertheless this state needs a police force similar to that in some of the other states of the nation," Senator Smith said.

STATE POLITICIANS TURNING ATTENTION TO LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM FOR 1923 SESSION

MADISON, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—The election out of the way, politicians are turning their attention to the legislature which convenes here January 10, 1923, for its regular biennial session. Enactment of a legislative program of wide-spread consequence to the people of the state is expected to result from the coming meeting.

Predictions of a short session in 1923 are not borne out by experience of past legislatures, and with several important fights already developing the probabilities are that Wisconsin's 1923 legislature will do as its predecessors have done, hold a six months' session.

The assembly will be made up almost entirely of new members. Conservatives who held a majority in the 1921 session were swept out of power with new and inexperienced assemblymen taking their places. This means that the organization is going to be slow in getting under way.

Senate Control Changes
Control of the state senate is also going to change hands. Here again a large share of the members will be having their first experience in the legislature. In both of the houses the organization will rest with administration men, making it probable that John L. Dahl, Barron county, will be chosen speaker of the assembly and that Herman J. Severson of Iowa, will head the joint finance committee of the senate and assembly.

With new men on committees and many members of both houses coming to Madison prepared to introduce a record number of bills as a result of campaign promises, it is expected that two months will be required to get the session under way before the big fights really develop. Months will more than likely follow before all legislation is disposed of.

Senator Severson in the senate and John Dahl in the assembly have tax bills for introduction in the coming session that are going to vitally affect individuals and industry of the state. They propose to raise an increased proportion of taxes from incomes.

Senator Severson's proposal calls for a surtax on incomes over $5,000, the revenue of which will go largely to support the university, normal schools and common schools, with a corresponding reduction in the mill taxes for these purposes. The tax rates in this bill call for a graduated tax on incomes ranging from one per cent on earnings of $5,000 or over to six per cent on all incomes of 12 per cent or over.

Assemblyman Dahl's bill calls for removal of the personal property offset to the income tax law, for an increase in income tax rates, for removal of the secret clause to the income tax, and for an increase of exemptions.

Other tax bills, including the Grinstead bill calling for a graduated tax on land based on its value, will be introduced by members and stand a good chance of passage should the legislature follow the lines it laid out in the last session when the anti-administration forces were in control.

The general election has, accord-

While it is said that repeal of the Severson prohibition enforcement law is to be attempted, the close division in the senate with some of the wet senators opposed to alteration of the state law, is expected to save it from discard. A long and involved fight is looked for on the liquor issue.

FITZPATRICK URGES NEW SYSTEM FOR FINANCING SCHOOLS

Suggests Amendment to Provide for Turning Over all Fines to Education Fund

ONLY TWO PER CENT OF STATE
INCOME GOES TO SCHOOLS

Cost of Education Has Doubled in Six Years Says Official

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Proposal of a means of financing education without an increase of the general property tax despite the rapidly increasing growth population was made here Friday morning by Secretary E. A. Fitzpatrick of the state board of education. The new system, which if put into effect by the legislature would be a radical change from former methods, features an amendment to the state constitution which would specify that the proceeds of all fines resulting from any violation of the penal code shall go to the common school fund. At present only the fines from the state courts go into the common school fund.

"The obvious fact is," declared Secretary Fitzpatrick in making this proposal before the general session of the state teacher's association, "that property taxation cannot raise more money for education."

The Fitzpatrick plan which will be presented to the 1922 session of the legislature calls for receipts from five separate sources:

1. Amendment of the constitution to provide that all fines from violations of the penal code be remitted to the common school fund.

2. All revenue from the state inheritance tax law to be turned over to a new capital fund to be called "The Public School Fund."

3. An increase of school revenues by raising income taxes.

4. Continuation of the present general property tax for school purposes without increase until the new taxes on inheritance and income seem certain to provide for educational costs.

5. Amendment of the state income tax law so that instead of the localities receiving 75 percent of the amounts collected the percentage would be materially reduced the difference to go for educational purposes. Mr. Fitzpatrick suggested the localities receive 40 percent and that 20 percent be set aside for educational purposes.

Declaring that the cost of public education in the state had doubled in the last six years to a total of $50,000,000 in 1920-21, Mr. Fitzpatrick said that Wisconsin was only devoting two per cent of its annual income for education.

"We have not reached anything like our capacity to devote further funds to public education," Mr. Fitzpatrick said. "It is reasonable to suppose that the public school has secured such a place in the American political system that we have no more to fear from the end of our willingness to support more adequately our great educational institution."

Predicting that the state and the progressives would support the new plan for financing the state educational system, Mr. Fitzpatrick said that "fortunately, on this subject the dominant political group of the state at the present time is in accord with this recommendation."

In addition to these suggestions Mr. Fitzpatrick said that at the same time the legislature must give its attention to the working out of a new system of distribution of state aid for educational purposes. This aid he said should be based on financial inability and educational need instead of on a census report.

DEMAND FOR WORKERS DECREASING REPORTS STATE CONVENTION

MADISON, Wis.—The state industrial commission reported Friday that the number of placements made by the eleven state free employment offices in the state during the week ending November 4 continued to show a decline. As compared with a year ago, however, the number of placements is still twice as great.

The number placed during the past week is 2,194 compared with 2,437 in the preceding week. The excess of requests for help over applications for jobs is continuing to grow less, the number of applications being 3,916 compared with 4,547 for help.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

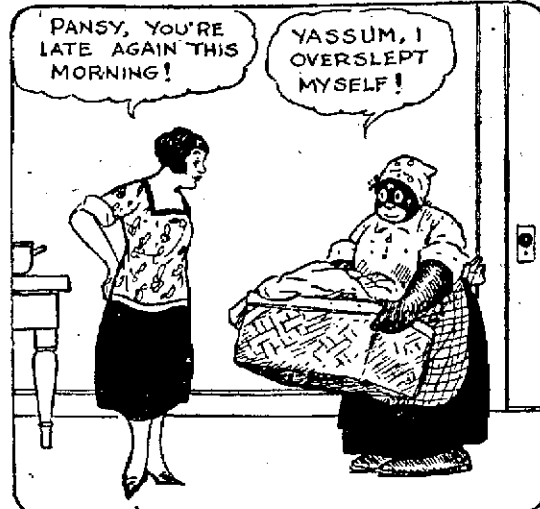

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will ruin your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It does no good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

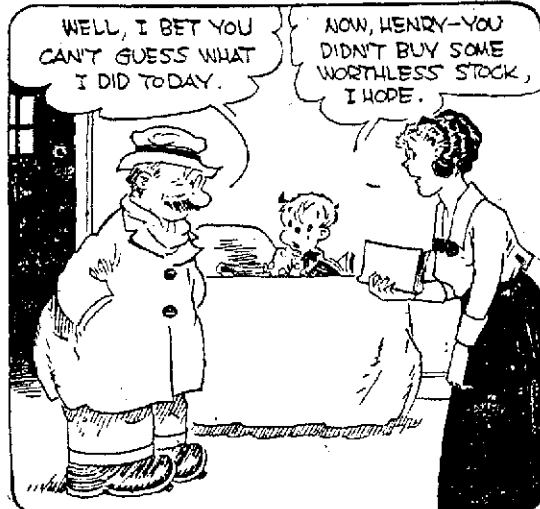

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

HOPP IS DEFEATED FOR STATE SENATOR BY T. E. SORENSON

Hot Contests Mark Election in Fillmore and Houston
Counties Tuesday

Practically complete returns from Houston and Fillmore counties indicate that State Senator John W. Hopp of Preston was defeated for re-election by T. E. Sorenson of Pilot Mound. With only three precincts missing in Fillmore county, the combined vote of the two counties gave: Sorenson, 6,021; Hopp, 5,563.

Houston county complete gave Hopp 2,717 and Sorenson 1,788, but Fillmore county put Sorenson in the lead by returning him 4,253 to 2,846 for Hopp.

O. K. Dahle of Spring Grove defeated O. A. Moen of Peterson for the office of representative-at-large from the two counties. The vote stood Dahle 5,244, Moen 4,340. Houston county gave Dahle 2,952 and Moen 1,823, while in Fillmore county Dahle received 2,292 and Moen 2,517.

Johnson Beats Brokken
John A. Johnson, incumbent, of Preston was successful in defeating T. T. Brokken of Harmony for representative from Fillmore county. The vote in 39 out of 43 precincts was Johnson 3,520, Brokken 3,036.

W. E. McNally defeated D. C. Webster for representative from Houston county, the final returns being McNally 2,852, Webster 2,089.

Two contests for county office in Houston county which were close, resulted in the re-election of W. E. Flynn for county attorney by a margin of 77 votes over W. A. Peters, and the victory of James Evans over Charles Metcalf for clerk of court by 61 votes.

In Fillmore county, practically complete returns showed that Frank J. Bach had succeeded in defeating S. M. Strom for county auditor by over 700 votes. The returns gave Bach 3,576, Strom 3,211. Miss Irene Warren of Spring Valley defeated E. C. Ingraham of Lauesboro for county superintendent of schools. She received 3,804 votes and her opponent 3,165.

Early returns on other offices in both counties were sustained by late reports.

Big Margin for Anderson
Fillmore county gave its own citizen, Representative Sydney Anderson of Lauesboro, a majority of more than 2,500 votes over his democratic opponent, Dr. James P. Lynn of Waseon, for congress. The returns from 30

GOLD FROM HAIR CLIPPINGS

Here's a good story but we do not want to be called upon to substantiate it. An Illinois barber who had drifted utterly with his pick and shovel, so he opened a barber shop with a cyanide tank in the back room. All his waste and hair clippings were treated and yielded more yellow metal than some mines. He collected a dollar apiece for haircuts and a corresponding rate for other tonsorial service and this, with the product of the cyanide tank, made him wealthy. The discarded hair of miners was filled with gold.

MORGAN ASSISTANT RESIGNS HIS OFFICE

MADISON, Wis.—Attorney General W. J. Morgan Friday announced the resignation of Special Assistant G. E. Clifford effective November 15. Mr. Clifford leaves to become a member of the Martin law firm of Green Bay. Mr. Clifford was actively associated with anti-trust cases in the Attorney General's office.

At the same time it was announced that Emmet A. Donnelly, Milwaukee, has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Clifford's resignation. Mr. Donnelly is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, class of 1910. He is a son of the late Judge G. Donnelly who was chief judge of the civil court from time of its establishment until his death in 1915.

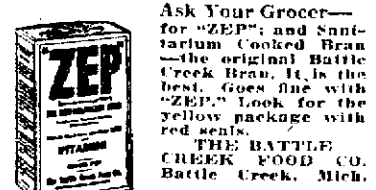

High Cost of Bread Delivery

Whatever you pay for bread, half of the sum represents delivery charges. The farmer who raises the grain gets for his labor a shade over 20 cents. In 1913 the entire production cost was 14 cents and the delivery charges, 50 cents. This delivery charge is due in a measure to the competitive element between manufacturing bakers, but at the same time it is generally agreed that competition tends to maintain a high degree of quality.

NATION'S BEAUTIES SHOWN IN GUIDE OF GOVERNMENT SURVEY

Information on Motor Routes Through West Issued by Geological Bureau

WASHINGTON.—Although it is not generally known that Uncle Sam is in the guide book business, one of the most interesting guides to motorist routes throughout the "Golden West" is that recently published by the U. S. Geological Survey. The great variety of mountain scenery to be found in Colorado and the panoramas of the plateaus and deserts of Utah, is the theme of the latest addition to the series which the Geological Survey has been publishing at intervals since 1915. Specifically, the route described follows that of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad from Denver to Salt Lake City.

The guide book, which may be obtained at the department for one dollar, not only treats of the scenery, resources and the human activities of the region traversed, but explains the forms of the mountain plains and canyons along the route, how they have been developed by the ancient terrestrial forces. It describes the rock strata which underlie the country and which have controlled the forms of the landscape. Many of the beds of these rocks are most interesting, for they contain the remains of strange animals, now extinct, that roamed the country ages ago.

The skeletons of great monsters have been unearthed in many places along the route and even their tracks, preserved in sandstone, have been found.

The rocks also contain the metaliferous ores that have made Colorado and Utah famous the world over and have added untold millions of dollars to the country's wealth. The guidebook gives interesting exposition of these rocks and precious minerals, described by mineralogists and geologists. The history of the mining districts passed along the route forms one of the most fascinating and adventurous chapters in the country's own history. The most interesting of the old camps described is possibly Leadville, where great wealth in lead, silver, gold, and zinc was produced.

The changes that the wizard water has accomplished, with the aid of the government's reclamation and irrigation service are also seen in the deserts, and described in the tourist's book. The work of the Forest Service in conserving the country's great timber reserves is also to be seen along the route, and is easier to be enjoyed through the descriptions in the book.

Some of the most interesting pages are those which sound like dime novels of boyhood days, wherein the war between the Denver and Rio Grande and the Santa Fe railroads in 1878-1880, for the possession of the Royal Gorge, a key in railroad routes through the mountains, is graphically described. This was a real war too, for much blood was shed, many thousands of dollars of property destroyed, and many legal words flung about courthouses before the matter was finally settled. As a result, both sides won, apparently, for while the Denver and Rio Grande won possession of the gorge, it lost its right of extending its lines to the southward.

FINE WEAVING A DYING ART

At one time the weaving of Kashmir shawls employed 16,000 looms and today it is almost a lost art. It is not only a dying art, but it is also a dying industry. The results of his excavations were as instructive as interesting and unexpected.

Out of the mound emerged a rectangular building about 70 feet square and one story high, accurately oriented to the cardinal points of the compass, with a circular tower forming by 15 to 20 feet high, like a church steeple, midway in the western wall. This tower is supposed to have been for observation and as it is very important for an agricultural people to determine the seasons of the year, it was probably by watching the sun as it arises or sets that they determined the time for planting and for other events.

THE GREEN GLASS "SNAKE"

What is frequently referred to as the "green glass snake" is not a snake at all but a lizard.

An eminent naturalist, Dr. R. W. Shelford, says, in a contribution to the Journal of Herpetology, that the glass snake sometimes attains a length of more than three feet. It ranges over most of the Eastern United States and is very abundant in Florida. Marshy soil is its favorite habitat, where it burrows for earthworms and larvae of insects. Why this curious lizard dissection of which reveals rudimentary thigh bones should have come to disguise itself as a reptile nobody can say. It is beautifully colored in shades of green, with a dark streak along its back, and the "feel" of its glossy surface is like that of porcelain or smooth glass. Its most remarkable characteristic is the reptile's ability to shed its tail when desirable such as when chased by some other snake or beast.

NEW PREHISTORIC RUINS ARE FOUND IN COLORADO BY SMITHSONIAN EXPERT

WASHINGTON.—Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, Chief of the Bureau of American Ethnology, Smithsonian Institution, who has recently returned from a season of archeological field-work on the Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado, reports the unexpected unearthing of a most interesting and instructive prehistoric ruin to which he has given the name "Pipe Shrine House," because of the large number of tobacco pipes which were found stored in a circular shrine just as they had been thrown there during ceremonial rites, untold centuries ago.

The Mesa Verde Park was reserved from settlement some years ago by Congress on account of the numerous cliff dwellings in its canyon, but later it was discovered that there were as many pueblos on the open top of the mesa as in the cliffs. These have been badly ruined by the elements, on account of exposure, and are now reduced to mounds without walls above ground.

For some years Dr. Fewkes has been active in unearthing and clearing out these souvenirs of our predecessors on the western plains of the continent, and it has been through his efforts mainly that the ruins have been preserved. Excavating several of the mounds that were taken to be natural formations it was found that they were in reality the moldering heaps of fallen houses and temples.

Last May Dr. Fewkes undertook the excavation of a mound in the neighborhood of what is known to many motor tourists as Mummy Lake. The results of his excavations were as instructive as interesting and unexpected.

In the middle of this building was found a circular room twenty feet deep and about the same in diameter, in which were found more than a dozen clay pipes, numerous stone knives, pottery, beads and other objects. Pipes of this kind have never before been found on the Mesa Verde and as all the indications point to the belief that after the rite of smoking they were thrown into the shrine, the ruins were called "Pipe Shrine House."

A few feet south of the building, which was not a habitation but specialized for ceremonies, there is a square room or shrine dedicated to the mountain lion, a stone image of which was found surrounded by water-worn stones and other strangely formed stones. A similar shrine is found on the north-east corner of Pipe Shrine House in which, among other

PLANTS THAT SCATTER POISON
Because of its reputation for scattering disaster, the poison ivy is often given the blame for work of a similar nature done by other plants. There are in this country about one hundred plants which have the faculty of distributing poison, but it is a fact that the poison ivy is the worst offender.

Dr. W. W. Stockberger, of the United States department of agriculture, has been making a study of these plants and is the author of the first complete list of poison plants, including the following plants, which are more or less well known: Aconite, alantus, asparagus, catnip, dog fennel, lady-slipper, wild-carrot, hop, lobelia, eleander, nightshade, ox-eye, daisy, parsnip, pokeweed, smartweed, fromula, buttercup, poison elder or poison dogwood, bloodroot, mullein, cocklebur and the mustard.

These plants are not all equally poisonous and different persons show different degrees of susceptibility. The pollen of an Easter lily has been known to be responsible for a mild case of poisoning, but this is probably as rare as that of the wild carrot.

Stained Glass Windows Illuminated
The capital invested in the stained glass windows of this country is said to total at twenty million dollars, but except for a few hours on Sunday these works of art are locked up as completely as if they were in a vault. In other words the vast sum of money represented in these windows is not working. A feature of the studios from which these works are turned out, is provision for lighting them from inside so that their beauties may be observed from the street or else having the lights outside so that the beautiful colors may be seen by the worshippers at evening service.

Habit Passing Beyond Pleasure and Becoming Habit Says London Writer

LONDON.—The enormous increase of cigarette smoking among women, says the medical correspondent of the London Times, calls for some protest by the medical profession. He declares the habit in many instances is passing beyond a pleasure and becoming a vice.

"The absorption of nicotine, which is the danger element in the matter," the correspondent proceeds, "produces a condition of nervous distress which is frequently painful to observe. From this proceed palpitations and exhaustion and outbursts of emotion. Woman's delicate nervous organism was certainly not intended to endure large doses of this poison. Her function as a mother cannot but be interfered with when she indulges in it to excess."

LA CROSSE PREPARES FOR FOOTBALL CLASSIC HERE SATURDAY

LANE TECH BATTLE BIGGEST IN HISTORY OF LOCAL SCHOOL

Elaborate Preparations Being Made to Accommodate Large
Attendance Saturday

FIRST OF PEP DEMONSTRATIONS
TO BE STAGED AT 5 O'CLOCK

Chicago Team to Arrive Over
Milwaukee at 6:30 Saturday

ALL LA CROSSE will be in gala attire for the football classic at Normal field on Armistice day. Lane Technical high school of Chicago comes to La Crosse to battle the Red and Black in a football struggle that from the standpoint of interest in the realm of high school gridiron battles assumes a magnitude comparing favorably with the international clashes of the east and the west.

Biggest Game
La Crosse's gridiron battle with the famous squad representing the Chicago institution is truly an international clash with respect to high schools for never before has a local school attempted to encounter an aggregation whose possibilities of conquering superiority and championship are as high as Lane Tech with a contingent of 1,400 boys.

Elaborate preparations to accommodate a record attendance are under way at Normal field with the setting up of additional bleachers to seat 1,000 spectators. The field is being roped off to keep the thousands of spectators who are expected to throng the enclosure out of range of the playing field. All of the neighborhood boys and girls have been told that it is a splendid chance to see a football game and that Normal field will accommodate the largest crowd in the history of games here.

Parade Tonight
The first of the demonstrations marking La Crosse's greatest high school football encounter will be staged at the court house square at 7 o'clock. Pupils leaving when school bells ring will be met by a parade of bands and floats. The parade will be headed by the La Crosse high school band and will include the Chicago band and floats. The parade of Red and Black, led by the La Crosse high school band, will be met by the Chicago band and floats. The parade will be headed by the La Crosse high school band and will include the Chicago band and floats.

Highs in East Stand
At Normal field, Saturday afternoon, the first of the demonstrations marking La Crosse's greatest high school football encounter will be staged at the court house square at 7 o'clock. Pupils leaving when school bells ring will be met by a parade of bands and floats.

Comment on Game
In starting school, before there was much comment on the coming battle with Lane Tech. There were those who predicted a one-sided battle with Chicago on the long end, while others contended that the local squad would triumph. The game will be a test of the local squad's ability to overcome a superior opponent.

May Have to Unleash Plays
It is almost a certainty that Coach Keegan will have to unleash his team's offensive plays against the Chicago squad. The game will be a test of the local squad's ability to overcome a superior opponent.

WHAT RIVAL COACHES SAY

Dr. H. Fausel, coach of Lane Technical high school of Chicago says: "We know La Crosse has a fast and heavy team which is playing real football. La Crosse may outgrow Lane Tech slightly, but what we lack in weight we will make up in skill. It is that game fighting to win that it will be a hard-fought game regardless of who wins. We are going to give your team our best."

Coach Keegan: "La Crosse has been playing consistent football all season and has yet to be defeated. However, I have plenty of respect for Dr. Fausel's ability and Lane Tech's team. My team will go into the game fighting to win that it will be a hard-fought game regardless of who wins. We are going to give your team our best."

HOMECOMING AT MADISON DRAWS THOUSANDS FORMER STUDENTS BACK TO CAMPUS

Extensive Festivities Planned Both Friday Night and on Saturday Following Battle With Zuppke's Illini Warriors

THE gala occasion of the University year, Wisconsin's annual Homecoming, is drawing thousands of former students back to the campus Friday and Saturday, and is turning Madison into a festival city.

The clash between Wisconsin and Illinois at Camp Randall Saturday is the big attraction that brings the grads once more to their alma mater. A record-breaking crowd of 27,000 will see the gridiron contests when two teams settle their long-standing grudge in a decisive struggle.

Active For Event
All Madison is being attired for the Homecoming occasion. Throughout the Latin quarter, fraternity houses are lavishly decorated, while the entire business district has entered the spirit by trimming itself up to meet the homecoming.

Tonight a giant student mass meeting and pep session will meet at the armory, with addresses scheduled by Coach Richards, Captain Rollie Williams, Gus Tobell and Paul Meyers, former captain and star end of the Badgers. A huge bonfire and snake dance is to follow the meeting.

Extensive festivities are planned for Saturday night after the game, when the fraternities will entertain their alumni with dances and parties.

Expert Staff Struggle
Wisconsin is expecting a stiff struggle with the Illini at Camp Randall in a game which looks as though it would furnish thrills for the homecoming crowds. There never has been any particular love between the teams of the two institutions, and since the protest of Murray, regular Wisconsin tackle, by Illinois, the Badgers have entertained a particular grudge which they hope to dispose of Saturday in a telling fashion.

Although twice defeated by conference teams already this year, Illinois is coming prepared to give everything it has to the battle with Wisconsin. Both sides are anticipating a bitter contest with hard playing on the part of each.

Badger fans have their eyes set on a conference championship and look to the team to show Saturday the qualities which will turn the tide in the decisive clash with Michigan on the following Saturday.

PRESBYTERIANS GO INTO LEAD; WIN 3 FROM THE BAPTISTS

The Presbyterians went into the lead in the church athletic league on Thursday through their winning three games from the Baptists, while the First Methodists, former leaders, were defeated two out of three by the Bethel Lutherans. The Presbyterians have a margin of a game.

The second Congregational and second Methodist won three games from the West Avenue Methodists and Caledonia Street Methodists. The First Congregational and English Lutherans won two out of three from the Silver Memorial and North Presbyterian.

KEELER'S SQUAD LEAVES FRIDAY TO BATTLE OSHKOSH

Eastern Contest Will Mark Closing of Schedule for Maroon and Gray

UP STIFF BATTLE SATURDAY

Nine Men Play Last Game With
Locals at Oshkosh

COACH KEELER and a squad of eighteen men left Friday noon for the Milwaukee for their last game of the season, with Oshkosh on Armistice day. The team finished with a hard scrimmage Thursday night and are in the pink of condition to make things hot for the boys from the overall city.

A win Saturday for La Crosse will finish a fairly successful season by the Maroon and Gray squad and also put them up among the leaders in the conference. It will also be the last game for a number of men on the team. Captain Ole Gunderson, Jack Murphy, Tommy Cerzerbocki, Heis, Filonowicz, Kevin, Poscover, Dean and Hurd are all playing their last game for the Maroon and Gray.

Oshkosh will probably stage a strong comeback after their defeat at the hands of Plattville last week and will try to redeem themselves by handing La Crosse a defeat. It will be one of the toughest battles of the normal conference this year.

"SWEDE" DAHLGREN FIGHTS LAST GRIDIRON BATTLE FOR BELOIT COLLEGE SATURDAY

"Swede" George Dahlgren, 33, all-state guard of this city, will fight his last gridiron battle for Beloit college Saturday when he lines up against Lake Forest college at Beloit. This week's game will end his fourth year of football begun in 1911 and 1912.

"Swede" was not satisfied with two years of all-state honors and came back nine years later to drop into his old position. In 1921 Dahlgren began his comeback by picking up a fumble and making the touchdown that won for Beloit over Northwestern university.

The gridiron is not his only playground. Dahlgren set a hammer throw record for the state at 134 feet three inches in 1911 and last spring raised the state discus mark to 192 feet 8 1/2 inches. He won his letter with Beloit's midwest conference basketball championship team in 1922 and is now president of the "B" club.

Dahlgren is more than six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds.

NEW NAMES FOR OPALS
South Australia seeks a market for its white opals—very beautiful gem stones of a kind peculiar to that part of the world.

The chief commercial obstacle in superstitious that opals are unlucky and bring misfortune to the owner. This silly notion does not worry Americans much and in the United States opals are much admired and commonly worn.

In Europe, however, it has a surprising grip. Accordingly, the producers are going to put their white opals on the market under another name. They will be called "riditors," after the Greek word for rainbow.

TOMMY GIBBONS WANTS CHANCE TO MEET JOE BECKETT

Would Take Place of Battling Siki in Coming Bout With English Heavyweight

CHICAGO, Ill.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light-heavyweight, through his manager, Eddie Kane has asked for a chance to take the place of Battling Siki against Beckett, English heavyweights.

When the British home office drew the color line and refused to permit the Seneagles fighter to meet Beckett or any other white man in the United Kingdom, Kane called Major Wilson, promoter of the proposed match, asking him to substitute Gibbons for Siki.

The Siki-Beckett match was scheduled for December 7 in London and was barred at the same time the French boxing commission suspended Siki for nine months and took away his crown as light-heavyweight champion because of his conduct at the Premier Palace fight, when he struck Premier's manager.

Kane announced he had been negotiating for sometime with English promoters for three fights for Gibbons in London.

PERSHING STATUE PHYSICIAN'S GIFT TO SAN FRANCISCO

Work of Two Years to be Unveiled at Armistice Day Celebration

SAN FRANCISCO.—On Armistice day, November 11, a heroic statue of General Pershing, picturing him as if watching troops in battle, will be unveiled in the Golden Gate park here.

The statue is a gift to the city of San Francisco by Dr. Morris Herzstein, a local physician. It was done by an old friend of the doctor, Haig Patigan, noted San Francisco sculptor.

Eight feet in height, the figure is of gilt bronze and stands on a pedestal of silver granite. The pedestal is five feet high. It presents the general in field uniform, standing squarely and looking forward, both face and figure animated with the expression of alertness and energy.

On the face of the pedestal is the inscription: "In tribute to General Pershing and the victorious armies of the United States and her co-belligerents during the world war, 1914-1918. Presented by Dr. Morris Herzstein, 1922."

Dr. Herzstein conceived the idea of the statue after he had heard from General Pershing himself the story of the American expeditionary force and saw with his own eyes the fields where that force had won imperishable glory. The doctor toured the battle fields with Representative Julius Kahn of San Francisco immediately after the armistice and spent some time as the guest of General Pershing.

Patigan has worked on the statue for more than two years, and, at the request of the doctor, has kept the plans a secret.

A new paper backed photographic film has been introduced in Germany.

WORLD TEMPERANCE WORKERS TO MEET END OF THE WEEK

White Ribboners from Nearly Every Nation to Attend Philadelphia Convention

PHILADELPHIA.—Wearers of the white ribbon of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, representing nearly every nation in the world, will assemble here November 11-16 in the eleventh world convention of their organization. Two great objects of the convention are announced as follows: "The enlistment of every civilized country in the world in the anti-liquor cause, and the development of a determined offensive against the movement to modify or repeal the United States dry amendment and statutes."

A polyglot prohibition petition which, when rolled up tight, fills seven huge packing cases, and which contains eight million signatures set down in more than 50 languages, will be unrolled and draped about the hall of assemblage in the Philadelphia Academy of Music.

Delegates from abroad will come prepared to make a careful study of the methods used by American women to win the country to the prohibition cause and also those used for its enforcement now that the country is legally dry. The visitors from Finland and Scandinavian countries, where prohibition has been tried in modified form, will focus their attention on the enforcement phase of prohibition, that being the most troublesome part of their own laws.

W. C. T. U. representatives from China, Japan, Ceylon, South Africa, Burma, India, Australia, and New Zealand will be present prepared to listen attentively to the stories of the experience of anti-liquor crusaders in different parts of the world, also to lay the tales of their own experiences before the convention for counsel and criticism. From Mexico, Cuba and South America generally will come a host of women, many of whom were present at the recent Pan American Suffrage conference. Western Europe will be amply represented. Ireland will send its quota and Scotland, which in recent years has been a battleground of the prohibitionists and the supporters of John Barleycorn, will send its band of determined women.

At the opening of the convention the organization will lack but a few months of being 50 years in existence. Its white banner has been visible wherever war against liquor or cigarette smoking has been waged. The reports received at the convention are expected to furnish a barometer of the state of prohibition in every nation of the world.

Due to the death of Lady Carlisle.

president of the world organization last year, Miss Anna A. Gordon, vice-president, will be chairman at the convention.

SUES MAN WHO SAVED HIM

A farmer in Graz, Styria, found a man hanging himself to a tree and promptly cut the would-be suicide down. In his descent to the ground the latter sustained a broken leg and was taken to the hospital. After leaving the institution he brought suit against the farmer, claiming that he had suffered by reason of an interference with his personal liberty.

and was entitled to damages. The court, however, did not agree with the complainant. The judge said: "If the farmer had committed an act of negligence he would be responsible for the injury." "But negligence was impossible, for the farmer could not both climb the tree to cut the rope and catch the hanging man at the same time." The common fuel in China is rice straw.

RECORD ATTENDANCE IS REGISTERED AT TEACHERS' MEETING

Enrollment of 8,000 is Larger than Ever Been Recorded at Any Previous Convention

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Nearly 8,000 teachers, more men and women than ever before attended a convention of the Wisconsin state teachers' association, assembled here Thursday for the opening of the 45th annual meeting, heard the acknowledgment of Thomas W. Boyce, president, that "open warfare" had existed between schoolroom teachers, teaching executives and board of education members in the past, and listened to his program for the establishment of cooperation and subsequent harmony between them.

"Our state board of industrial education has been the target of persistent criticism because the legislature saw fit to vest in such a separate board the introduction and control of part time education," he said.

In his talk on a program for better teacher training, F. S. Hyer, president of the Whitewater Normal school, proposed that the association recommend the enactment of certificate laws which will provide that after a fixed date "no certificate shall be granted to any candidate who has not had at least two years of professional training, beyond graduation from high school, and that, in order to secure a certificate to teach in the elementary grades of a city school, not less than three years of training beyond a high school shall be required."

"Wisconsin is far below the standard in meeting the required qualifications of her high school teachers," Mr. Hyer said.

THIS IS SOME SNAKE STORY

At the Bruce Museum of Natural History at Greenwich, Conn., there is quite a collection of snakes, some of which were captured during the past summer upon country expeditions of patrons of the institution. One of these contributions, a garter snake, viewed with unusual interest as it was suspected it was a mother snake and that she was about to make some interesting contributions to the museum's collection. This occurred on August 15, when thirty tiny snakes were ushered in the world. In five days the same sort of event occurred when presided over by the same snake, thirty-three snakelets were added to the first brood. Five died; but the others seem in a fair way to reach adult snakehood. Towards night the mother snake rolls up her body and is at once covered by her offspring.

GERMANY'S EXPORTS ARE STILL A LONG WAY UNDER NORMAL

Only a Third as Much Goods
Bearing "Made in Germany"
Sold as Before War

BERLIN—"Made in Germany" has regained only about a third of the popularity it enjoyed in foreign markets before the war, according to trade estimates on the amount of exports during the first quarter of this year.

The first three months of 1922 recorded outgoing products amounting to approximately 59,200,000 double centners (about 6,525,616 tons) and valued at some 50,300,000,000 marks. These figures do not include coal delivered on the reparations account. It is noted that if coal were left entirely out of consideration both for 1913 and 1922, the amount of Germany's exports for the first quarter would be 46 percent instead of 32 percent as much as was shipped out during the same period in the last pre-war year.

Holland proved the best Continental customer, buying some 17.2 percent of the total exported. Other European nations bought as follows: The Scandinavian countries, 11.6 percent; England, 7.7 percent; Switzerland, 4.7 percent; Italy, 3.9 percent; Spain, 2.4 percent; Czechoslovakia, 1.3 percent; Hungary, and the Balkans, 1.3 percent. Statistics are not available on the export to non-European markets, individually as to nationalities.

The chief articles sent abroad were chemicals, electrical products, textiles, wares in iron and other metals, leather goods, trinkets, musical instruments, toys, wood, and wine. German textiles are said to have suffered particularly because of the transitions wrought by the war. It is claimed here that between 1914 and 1918 England and France transformed their textile production and began imitating German patterns and processes. In other European lands entirely new textile industries were developed in which, it is asserted, efforts were confined to copying Germany's quality productions.

Spain, which was one of the Fatherland's best customers in this line before the war, has established a textile industry which already is providing noteworthy competition not only in Spain and Portugal, but in the Latin-American countries as well. In the past trade year Germany has sent out silk goods amounting to 2,360,175 kilograms (about 2,611 tons) which marks a decline of 50 percent over 1913. At the same time her silk imports have dropped to three twenty-fifths of what they were before the war. The amount of raw silks brought in decreased from 7,834,500 kilograms in 1913 to 3,347,700 last year, while the silk goods imported exclusive of such as were produced in Alsace-Lorraine, fell from 933,000 kilograms to 124,283.

Shakespeare is said to have written the play "The Merry Wives of Windsor" for Queen Elizabeth's amusement.

EVENING SERVICE TO FEATURE ARMISTICE DAY ANNIVERSARY

Armistice day did not settle everything, according to the Sunday evening plans of the Men's Fellowship League of the First Presbyterian church, since there are many issues for which America must continue to fight. In other words, it is worth while on this special day, to pause and ask ourselves, "How America can continue her crusade for world betterment."

To this end, the evening service will be given over, in a series of talks by ex-service men who are interested in this timely subject. Mr. Fred Evans, president of the Service Men's club of the normal school will preside and be assisted by his colleagues, S. E. Bugbee and Leroy Dean. Mr. R. N. Fletcher of the Y. M. C. A. will also participate in the program, pre-sending the problem of future citizenship, as it touches the youth of today.

This will be one of the usual "men's night" occasions at this church, when the members of the league, under leadership of E. L. Walters, president, will occupy the platform and lead the congregational singing. The vested choir, under leadership of Mrs. P. L. Cilley, will also render special selections.

At the monthly dinner on Tuesday evening, this organization was entertained by the xylophone playing of Prof. Leland Watkins of the high school faculty. The men also voted to mobilize two volleyball teams which should engage in a tournament during the winter months. Rev. E. C. Dixon gave an instructive talk upon "Big Doings Among the Methodists" at the same hour.

BANGOR HUNTERS LEAVE FOR NORTH

Bangor's two hunting clubs got off for the deer country Thursday night and Friday morning. No. 1 left via cars with the following in the party: L. J. Roberts, John Rossabrd, Robert Davis, C. W. Holtze, Julius Wilke, Roger Evans, Louis Merlo, Frank Rommel, Lee Smith, E. Heidemann of Salem, chef.

No. 2 left via train Friday morning as follows: E. J. Wiles, Aaron Darling, Ernst Hussa, W. E. Darling, Frank Bousack, Harold Meyer and Carl Swerman. Both camps will hunt out of Winter, Sawyer county, where Bangor hunters have hunted for 20 years.—Bangor Independent.

PLAN NEW LAW FOR COUNTY REGULATION OF THE ROADHOUSE

MADISON, Wis.—County boards of the state will be given additional powers to suppress the moonshine evil by the coming session of the Wisconsin legislature. The Milwaukee curfew law providing for the closing of roadhouses at midnight and prohibiting their re-opening until at least six o'clock the following morning has been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.

The merits of the Milwaukee ordinance were not at issue. The fact is that the supreme court rather indicated that such an ordinance might be wholesome. A constitutional stumbling block stood in the way. The constitution of Wisconsin provides that county government in this state must be uniform. A special law had been enacted giving such special authority to Milwaukee county and no other county. The withholding of this power from other counties made the delegating power and law illegal. People interested in this legislation are already planning to have a new law offered at the coming session of the legislature which will grant to every county in the state complete power in the regulation of roadhouses. The women's organizations are back of the movement. They base their support of the legislation on the grounds that it will help drive moonshine from the rural districts of Wisconsin.

Didn't Enjoy It.
Young Harley was home for a few days from a cruise with the merchant marine. "Well," said the man from the home town genially, "how have you been enjoying maritime life?"

"I haven't been enjoying it at all, sir," answered the youngster, blushing. "she broke the engagement."—Pioneer Enterprise.

GLEN BARTHOLOMEW, DE SOTO, FINED $250 FOR LIQUOR SALE

Cider, Purchased as Soft, Turned Hard While Owner Was Away, Defense

Glenn Bartholomew, De Soto, former proprietor of the Riverside Bar, was fined $250, with the alternative of confinement in Dane county jail until payment of the fine, by Judge C. Z. Luse in federal court, in Madison, Thursday on a charge of selling liquor. He paid the fine.

Information filed against Bartholomew charged that his establishment had sold beer and "dynamite," consisting of a mixture of moonshine, whiskey and hard cider, to a prohibition agent.

F. E. Withrow, La Crosse, counsel for Bartholomew declared the latter had purchased the cider as soft and that it had hardened during a period while the proprietor was absent from town.

Extenuating circumstances, including the fact that Bartholomew bears a generally good reputation in his community, had already paid a $100 fine for his bartender in the same case and had abandoned the soft drink business, won him leniency not usually shown in similar cases, the court explained.

ROAD EMPLOYE IS HELD FOR ATTACK ON LEROY TEACHER

Edwin Johnstone Held for Grand Jury After Alleged Assault
on Oney Danielson

LE ROY, Minn.—Edwin Johnstone, who knocked unconscious and otherwise brutally handled Miss Oney Danielson, teacher in a country district near this place, was run down by a car and under lock and key within six hours of committing the crime, which was done after the pupils of the school had gone home at night and the teacher was alone. Johnstone was a member of a construction gang working near the school and had seen Miss Danielson come to and go. When brought into court by Sheriff Nicholson, and charged with the crime he admitted his guilt but as his offense calls for a term of imprisonment of from seven to thirty years, he could not be tried in a justice court and therefore waived examination, being committed to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury. After the crime, Johnstone had walked to Le Roy and boarded the train for Austin, planning to go on to Minneapolis the next day.

DUST CLOUDS AT SEA

During the month of May last several reports were received by the Weather Bureau at Washington from sea captains who reported that they had encountered dense clouds of dust at sea. The Dutch steamer Wildum was 250 miles off the African coast on May 12 when the atmosphere became filled with a reddish brown dust which settled upon the boat and covered everything on deck with a dirty mantle and found its way also into the interior of the boat. A similar report was received from another boat which experienced a shower during the dust visitation and the rain brought down with it great quantities of the dust. It is thought that this dust must have been carried from the Sahara desert by some unusual storm for there is no other way of accounting for it although the Sahara is a great distance away from the location of the boats at the time. This is the second recent incident of the character. On April 15, 1921, the Santa Rosalie encountered a cloud of dust in the Yellow sea which reduced visibility to such a degree that it interfered with navigation. This dust was detected by observers beyond the Japanese islands and was found to be due to a cyclonic storm of great ferocity on the Mongolian desert.

Foot With a Broken Back

Jimmy Haworth, the English airman-poet, who broke his back in a crash and has been unable to move hand or foot since 1916, has issued a new edition of his poems. Published from his sick bed at Little Forest Cottage, Liphook, under the title of "Looking On," he has already sold out one edition, which enabled the poor fellow to live in greater comfort than otherwise would have been possible, and it is hoped the new edition will enable him to buy a plot of land to start a poultry farm.

Smokers are less liable than non-smokers to contract diphtheria and other throat diseases in the ratio of one to twenty-eight, according to a Viennese hygienist.

Getting Rid of a Stubborn Cough is Childs Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself at Home
It's Cheap—But You Can't Beat It

If you want to take care of that bad, hacking cough and get it in a few hours, better get one course of Farmil (double strength) and mix a half pint at home.

You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half pint bottle. You'll travel the world over before you get relief. It's the most powerful and quick-acting remedy for the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It kills the inflammation, the tickling sensation stops, with the first spoonful the heavy breathing goes, and clean, mucous-free from irritation and mucous follows.

For Catarrhal conditions such as mucous droppings, clogged nostrils and watery eyes, it won't disappoint—ask for Farmil (double strength) and speak plainly so that the druggist will know exactly what you want.

Anita Stewart and Rudolph Cameron
in "Rose of the Sea"

Which is pleasing thousands at the Rivoli this week.

MOVIES

ANITA STEWART—RIVOLI

It may be a sort of man's easiest way. The fact remains that Elliott Schuler, burdened by too much money and a herd of ancestral conventionalities sought the easiest way and found it was Broadway. In the lights and laughter of New York's thoroughfare he managed to kill time anyway. Then the time came when old Peter Schuler rose in his wrath against his son of the twentieth century. Before he could put any rash plan into execution, wiser counsel prevailed. He brought his son into contact with a girl who was decidedly worth while. The result may not have been what he anticipated, but it was an experiment worth making and one that was destined to affect him far more than it did his retrogressive offspring.

The whole story has been told in an unusually interesting way in "Rose of the Sea," the attraction that opened a three day run at the Rivoli theater. Anita Stewart is the star and she carries through the part of innocence and unsophistication with charm and spirit. Rudolph Cameron, her husband in real life, is the leading man.

CASINO TODAY

The Casino theater has another Owen Moore picture, this time it's "Love is an Awful Thing," which opened yesterday for a three day engagement. These Owen Moore pictures are always worth seeing for the reason that they are in a class by themselves. Moore has achieved a really remarkable success in having developed the ability to translate to pictures all the good points of the genuine old force comedies which were quite the rage when Charles Hoyt was producing for the legitimate stage. He creates a lot of laughter in a perfectly legitimate way—the kind of laughter one doesn't have to feel ashamed of. "Love is an Awful Thing" is a merry mix-up in which results from the smoldering ashes of an old love affair and a deadly burning into a near flame at the most inopportune time. Marjorie Daw and Kathryn Perry are prominent among the women folks of the supporting cast.

port Hughes, which was presented at the Majestic theater last night.

Mr. Hughes made a happy choice when he selected pretty Colleen Moore to play the leading part in "The Wall Flower." This charming player reveals a naive and an unspoiled sweetness on the screen that is not only captivating, but is absolutely essential to the part she portrays. Miss Moore's acting is a revelation. She has infinite resources at her command and never resorts to a bag of stale tricks for her effects. We believe that a new comedienne, with an entirely new manner, has come to delight lovers of the screen.

CAREY AT THE STRAND

Harry Carey will always remember his second great picture, "Good Men and True," announced as the feature attraction at the Strand theater tonight. The famous star was compelled to exert more energy and take greater personal risk in the filming of the Eugene Manlove Rhodes' story than ever before in his career on the screen.

Not only did he work to the point of exhaustion before the flickering lights but he had to fight in a dozen hand-to-hand conflicts that would have tried strength of a dozen Jack Dempseys. In order to fit himself for this wild display of fistuffs, in which the Marquis of Queensberry rules were disregarded completely, he rounded up a lot of the prize-ring denizens of the coast and had them put him through his paces.

"THE HINDU"—LA CROSSE

Mr. Walker Whiteside will appear at the La Crosse Theater Monday Nov. 20th in "The Hindu," a modern detective mystery play of India, filled with surprises and thrills. In which he won success last season in both Chicago and New York.

Prince Tamar, a powerful maharajah of Somnath, India, is the character which Mr. Whiteside impersonates. It is quite in keeping with the star's gallery of histrionic portraits, which includes such characters as Toketomo, the Japanese diplomat in "The Typhoon," Wu Li Chang in "Mr. Wu," James Durie in "The Master of Ballantyne," and David Quixano in "The Melting Pot." The theme of "The Hindu" concerns matters of supreme moment in India: the various uprisings, the desecration of the religious idols, and the theft of the great "Moonstone"—a diamond of enormous value—which has been stolen from the forehead of the Moon God. Mr. Whiteside's supporting company will include his leading woman, Miss Sedney Shields, the distinguished emotional actress.

CHOICE POLITICAL PLUMS AT DISPOSAL OF GOVERNOR BLAINE

Upwards of Fifty Positions to be Filled by Executive During Year 1923

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine now re-elected for a second term, has a number of political plums in his basket which he will soon be passing out to qualified friends of the administration. Upwards of fifty present office holders and members of numerous commissions, boards, and examining boards will have their terms expire during 1923 and will be either re-appointed or have their places filled by qualified friends of the administration.

With the resignation of Chairman Carl D. Jackson of the state railroad commission expected before the first of the year and the term of Commissioner H. B. Trumbower expiring in February, Gov. Blaine will have two appointments to make to this important commission. The third member, L. E. Gettle, is an appointee of Gov. Blaine's.

Among other appointive positions to be filled are the following:

Marshal Cousins, commissioner of banking whose term expires in May.

George B. Harris, state board of control, whose term expires in April. Secretary of State Elmer S. Hall has been mentioned for this position.

Commissioner C. E. Norwood of the department of Agriculture, term expiring in February.

Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets whose term expires in January.

C. L. Harrington, member of the conservation commission, whose term expires in February, mentioned for reappointment. The legislature will probably consider reappointing him, making this a one-year commission.

J. D. Morrissey, superintendent of public property, will probably be re-appointed in January or advanced.

Two appointments to the state board of accountancy to succeed E. H. Elwell and B. A. Kieckhefer, both of Madison.

A member of the Athletic Commission to succeed Dr. O. A. Morrie, Milwaukee, whose term has expired.

Two regents for the University to succeed Mrs. Florence G. Backus, Oshkosh, regent at large; and Peter Elmon, Superior, from the tenth congressional district.

Three appointments on the state board of vocational education to succeed E. J. Kearney, Milwaukee; Miss L. Hineman, Tomah; and Oliver Elsworth of Oshkosh whose terms expire in July.

A member of the University board of visitors to succeed Mrs. Charles M. Morris, Milwaukee.

Three members of the state fair advisory board.

Two members of the normal school board of regents to succeed W. K. Coffin, Eau Claire, and Charles S. Van Antwerp, La Crosse.

Adjutant General Orlando Holway, whose term is indefinite, will probably be continued.

A member of the Industrial Commission, Andrew Turrell, an appointee of the governor, is now filling the unexpired term of Thomas P. Kono, resigned. Mr. Turrell will probably be re-appointed.

A member of the state highway commission to succeed Fred Fabst, Oconomowoc whose term expires in February.

State Health Officer, Dr. C. A. Har-

Pearls Feature Wedding Clothes

There is nothing stereotyped about wedding costumes in India, as the Paramount designers discovered before they started to film scenes in "The Young Rajah," in which Rodolph Valentino is starred. Mr. Valentino and Wanda Hawley, who has the feminine lead in the production, are here shown wearing literally thousands of pearls. The effect is gorgeous.

Showing at the Riviera Monday and Tuesday nights.

DANCING, EATS AND MUSIC ON PROGRAM AT LEGION MEETING

Legion and Legion Auxiliary Entertain Minstrel Cast Thursday Night

The joint meeting of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary held Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce hall proved to be an unusually successful affair. One of the largest turnouts of the year for both organizations was noted.

One of the principal discussions coming up at the meeting of the Legion posts was as to whether or not the post wished to send representatives to the various merchants in the city who signed the petition to close for only one hour on Armistice day, to see if they could not be induced to close their establishments for the entire morning. It was finally decided to appoint a committee to canvass the merchants on Friday morning for this purpose.

Plans were discussed for the next boxing show to be given by the Legion. Some of the members are in favor of staging a matinee show on New Year's day.

The tickets for the American Legion musical comedy and minstrel show were put on sale Thursday night. The show is to be staged at the La Crosse theater on Thursday and Friday, November 23 and 24.

A meeting of all Legion members interested in organizing a bowling league to be held next Monday night at the Arcade alleys at 8 o'clock.

The Legion is to have a basketball team this winter if all plans carry through. A team is now being organized, and a schedule will be arranged soon.

The second class for band work is now being organized.

The cast of the Legion minstrel show, after rehearsing at the Y. M. C. A. came up to the hall, and were entertained by the Legion and auxiliary. A light lunch was served, during which time the orchestra rendered several selections. Billy Maine's quartet from the Majestic theater rendered several selections which were heartily applauded. Dr. Harry Marshall gave a vocal solo and responded to an encore.

After the short program was concluded the tables and chairs were cleared away and dancing was enjoyed until 11 o'clock.

Origin of the Zuider Zee
The Zuider Zee is a result of the bursting of the dykes. This happened in the Thirteenth century, and, in addition to Holland being cut in two, and Friesland being separated from the rest of the country by a large sheet of water, hundreds of villages were submerged and about 30,000 persons were drowned.—Merrill Herald.

FOURTEEN BADGERS SEEK APPOINTMENT TO MILITARY SCHOOL

MADISON, Wis.—Fourteen Wisconsin national guardsmen are taking examinations Friday in their respective towns in hopes of receiving an executive appointment to West Point Military Academy. Governor Blaine has been authorized by the war department to make two appointments from the National Guard of Wisconsin. He will make these appointments from the list submitted to him by the civil service commission of those who have successfully passed the examination. The results of the examination will probably not be known for at least two weeks.

Those who take the examination are Syrus W. Bylow, Neenah; Leroy I. Jensen, Waupaca; Donald Kurzi, Appleton; Jim Seymour, Reedsburg; Phil S. Daggett, Racine; John F. Kopp, Plattville; Armin H. Gerhardt, Neenah; Robert Williams, Neenah; Eric F. Douglas, Chippewa Falls; Robert Hartzell, Chippewa Falls; Harold Scaris, Beloit; Arthur P. Solem, Superior; Jacob Korman, Neillsville, and Harold Greb, Stevens Point.

STANDARDIZED SCHOOLS ASKED

By DUDLEY SIDDALL
NEA Staff Correspondent.
SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—National supervision of America's school system is advocated by Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, celebrated consultant engineer of the General Electric Co. Such centralization, he believes, would raise educational standards far beyond what they are today and make possible a thorough education for every child.

"In basic principles," said he, "it is my opinion that American educational institutions are operating along the right lines. This is perhaps because they are new—only a generation or possibly two generations old."

Dr. Steinmetz is well qualified to criticize schools. His parents endowed him with an extensive education. His education in German schools and colleges was, as a matter of fact, his only asset when he arrived in New York as an immigrant in 1889.

Studies Schools
Here in Schenectady, a city of nearly 100,000, he has several times served on the school board. His natural keen interest in educational affairs has been given a personal trend by the school experiences of his two grandchildren.

The doctor has never married, but he has an adopted son. The son grew up, married, and it is with the son's family that Dr. Steinmetz makes his home.

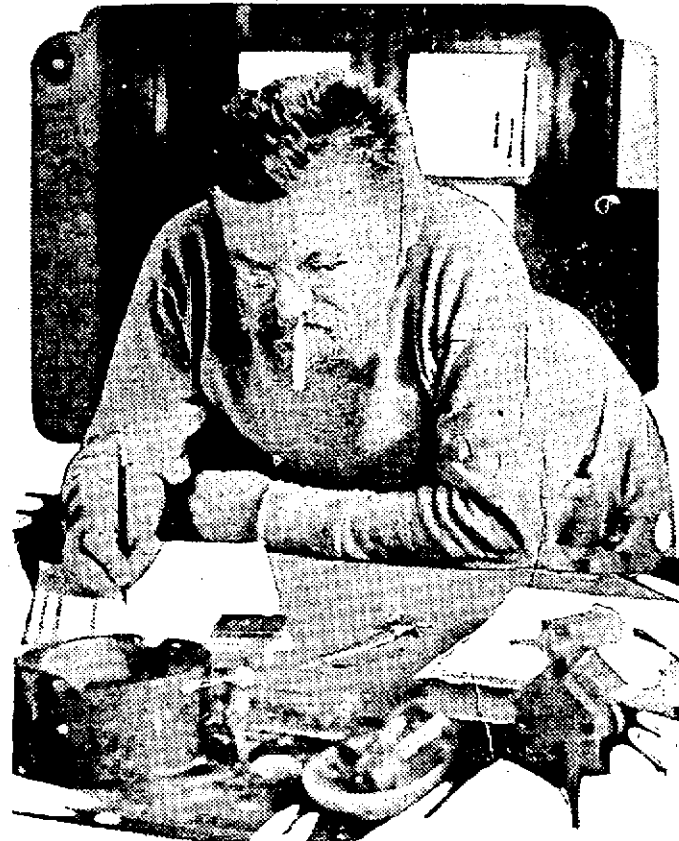

"American schools should all be placed under national control," continued the doctor, as he leaned across the desk in his library, "even though they be paid for locally. Then schools in one state would be on a par with those in another. Graduation from any high school would admit a student to college without regard to credits or the necessity for entrance examinations."

"Consider the subject of history as an example. A pupil selects American history because that gives him one credit. He chooses ancient history because that gives him another credit. As a result he learns nothing of history between the fall of Rome and the landing of the Pilgrims. Yet he and his parents and teachers are satisfied because he has acquired two credits. Everybody seems to forget that education, rather than credits, is the real reason for going to school."

The widely heralded "play element" in education is not wholly approved by Dr. Steinmetz. Although favoring anything that will develop and hold the interest of pupils, he says:

"When we first get the public school products at the General Electric works, we often find that it takes two or three years for them to acquire concentration and industriousness—if they acquire it at all. Children educated to do everything by play would have a hard time adapting themselves to hard work."

"The important thing to keep sight of is that schools primarily are run to supply education and not to enable students to get credits. Centralization under federal control would make American schools what they should be—the best in the world."

High Finance
"They say you can exchange 10 American dollars for 1,000 Austrian crowns."

"Well?"

"A thousand Austrian crowns will get you 1,000,000 Russian rubles."

"Go on."

"These may be traded for a dray-load of Chinese teas."

"Gee whiz! Looks like a fellow could go around the world and get rich."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
